Closed-Door Conferences With Caudle Held —$750 Payment Is Reported

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP) — A House investigation of the Justice Department had an open date today but Chairman Chelf (D.-Ky.) announced its next star witness will be former Atty.-Gen. J. Howard McGrath.

McGrath, who was fired by President Truman shortly after his first appearance before the committee last spring, is slated to appear on Sept. 15 in public session.

Meanwhile, the committee planned to continue a closed-door session with T. Lamar Caudle, ousted by Truman from his post as assistant attorney general last November.

The next huddle with the Wadesboro, N. C., lawyer who once headed the government's criminal and tax prosecuting agencies will take place tomorrow.

Has Much Information

Caudle indicated in an executive session on Tuesday that he has a lot of information to pass on to the probers.

And it is expected he will be quizzed about the committee's latest exposure: the case of a government attorney getting a "gift" of $750 from a law firm in 1947 after a government case was dropped against the Carnation Milk Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Caudle was chief of the crimi-

Tightented Statute Sought to Stop Reds–Osman Is Silent

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP)—Senate investigators described a labor union today as "under the control of agents of the Kremlin" and urged the Justice Department to consider perjury action against its officers who signed non-Communist affidavits.

A tightening of the law to prevent Communists from holding union jobs or offices also was recommended by the Senate's Internal Security subcommittee in a report on its investigation of the Distributive, Processing, and Office Workers of American (DPOWA), an independent union.

The subcommittee made public sworn testimony in which the president of the union, Arthur Osman of Brooklyn, N. Y., and a number of other top officials were identified as Communists.

Refused to Answer

Osman refused to answer when asked if he ever had been a Communist, invoking his constitutional privilege against possible self-incrimination. Other officers of the union also balked at saying whether they are or ever were members of the Communist party.

The DPOWA, with some 65,000 members, was formed in October, 1950. When Osman was asked if meetings leading to its organization took place in Communist party headquarters, he declined to answer.

The hearings showed that Osman and others identified in the testimony as Communists had signed the non-Communist affidavits required by the Taft-Hartley law to make the union eligible for certification as a bargaining agent by the National Labor Relations Board.

Copy to Attorney General

The subcommittee recommended that a copy of its hearings, conducted mostly behind closed doors, be turned over to the attorney general so that he could determine whether prosecution of these officers for perjury would be warranted.

It also recommended that Congress give prompt attention to a bill previously introduced by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), the subcom-

Ohio Seen as Key

Taft Situation Is Given Big Play in Building Theory

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 4 (AP)—Governor Adlai E. Stevenson's supporters tried today to drive a wedge between General Dwight D. Eisenhower and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio in the Republican ranks.

They cited the defection of Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, as an asset in their effort to capture the vital midwest in the presidential race.

McCormick has advised Republicans to ignore both presidential nominees and concentrate on electing selected GOP members of Congress in preparation for a third party presidential effort in 1956.

Sees It as 'Major Break'

A Stevenson aide told a reporter he regards this as a "major break" for the Democratic nominee in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Iowa where the Tribune circulates widely. These four states form the heartland of a midwestern area where President Truman won his unexpected victory in 1948.

The Stevenson aide said he believes McCormick's views will affect many Republicans who supported Taft for the nomination, and still are angry that Eisenhower won in Chicago on the issue that Taft's backers had "stolen" delegates in southern states.

Won't Affect Democrats

The Stevenson camp apparently believes that McCormick's views won't affect many Democrats but will cut deeply into Republican ranks. The Democratic nominee's followers said they don't expect to harvest many Republican votes but they do hope that many GOP members will stay away from the polls in November.

In this connection, it was disclosed that representatives of the Illinois governor had made careful canvasses of the situation in Ohio and returned here with optimistic reports.

Ohio's Democratic Governor Frank Lausche, a proved vote-getter, is running for reelection and is opposed by Republican Charles Taft, brother of the senator.

Although Senator John Bricker has announced that Senator Taft will make speeches for the ticket in the state, the senator did not suuport his brother for the gubernatorial nomination and there still is some doubt how far Robert Taft will go in urging Eisenhower's election.

Democrats obviously hope to capitalize on this situation in bidding for Ohio's 25 vital electoral votes. They believe many supporters of Senator Taft will stay home on Election Day.

Taft himself is expected to meet with Eisenhower some time next week to determine the amount of

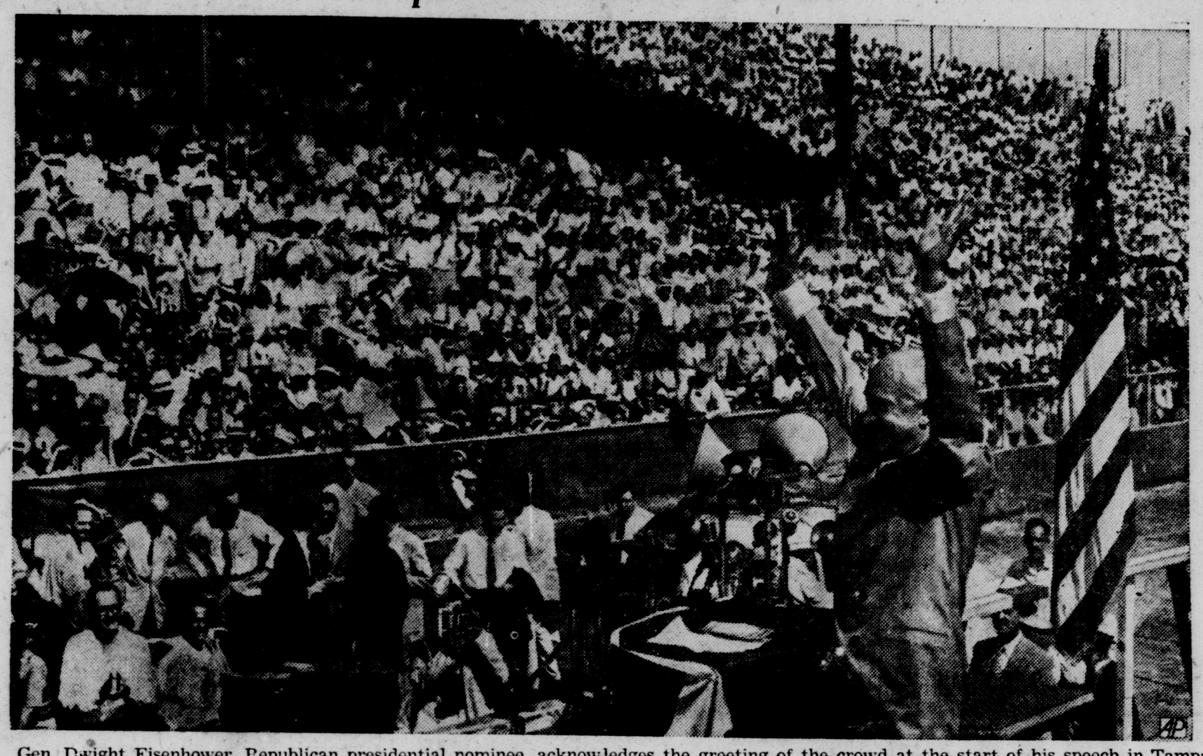
Tampa Crowd Hears Eisenhower



Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Republican presidential nominee, acknowledges the greeting of the crowd at the start of his speech in Tampa, Fla., yesterday on the second day of his southern campaign trip.

No Punch-Pulling

Top Adviser Declares General Is to Continue His Blasts

By DON WHITEHEAD

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower formally opens his presidential drive in Philadelphia tonight with a brand new fighting personality won in two days of campaigning below the Mason-Dixon Line.

Eisenhower and members of his staff left New York for Philadelphia aboard a six-car special train at 9:40 a. m. (EST). Accompanied by his wife, Eisenhower said he felt "fine" as he boarded the train which was due in Philadelphia at 11:15 a. m. (EST).

The southern invasion wiped out the jitters in the Eisenhower camp. It put smiles back on the faces of Eisenhower lieutenants. And it set the stage for the next phase of the big push with the GOP nominee now in the role of a two-fisted fighter.

Gov. Sherman Adams, of New Hampshire, one of Eisenhower's top advisers, told reporters: "From this moment on, the campaign will be as hard-hitting and vigorous as any campaign ever waged in your memory or mine."

Eisenhower himself apparently was well pleased with the results of the southern tour—the first concerted Dixieland stumping ever done by a GOP presidential nominee.

"Do you think you made a dent in the solid south?" a newsman asked as Eisenhower stepped from his plane here last night and flung up his hands in a gesture of happiness.

Made Lot of Friends

"I made a lot of friends," the general replied with a smile.

A short time later, Eisenhower told photographers outside his home: "I'll give you a good smile, because that's the way I feel."

Eisenhower will outline his views on foreign policy tonight before Pennsylvania Republicans —and a nation-wide NBC television and radio audience. He is expected to turn heavy criticism on the Truman administration's conduct of foreign affairs.

From Philadelphia, Eisenhower will push on to Chicago tomorrow, and then on Saturday to Kasson, Minn., where his path will cross that of Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson. From Kasson, Eisenhower will go to Cleveland on Monday and to Indianapolis the next day.

Speaks at Little Rock

As Eisenhower wound up his southern trip at Little Rock, Ark., late yesterday, he tackled the racial issue briefly.

Repeating what he had said in Tampa, Fla., earlier in the day, he pointedly reminded the audience that the Declaration of Independence says "all men are created equal." Eisenhower also said the founding fathers made no mention of color of skin.

Eisenhower told his Little Rock audience:

"We must approach • • • group problems in the spirit of cooperation and readiness to accept the responsibilities by each of us that are group in character.

"If we do not do that, then there comes that creeping tide of law, central law, that finally results in the all-powerful state and we do it because we are regimented. • • •"

Eisenhower's audiences sat silent when he made the passing references to the civil rights problem.

It seemed almost certain that Eisenhower will hammer away in the days to come at what has now become the favorite GOP phrase—"that mess in Washington". This was the big gun in his artillery in the South.

No Pulling of Punches

Adams said there will be "no pulling of punches" in the weeks ahead. "Eisenhower will make a hard-hitting campaign on things the people want to hear from a candidate," he added. "He'll continue the same tactics he started two days ago."

Ike's Running Mate Declares Honesty Is Greatest Form of Service

Sanford, Me., Sept. 4 (AP)—Senator Richard M. Nixon says that a Republican administration in Washington could give no greater service than to show that "tax dollars can be honestly and effectively spent in the public interest."

The Republican vice presidential nominee moved into Connecticut last night after a two-day tour of Maine, which will hold its state election next Monday. The California senator will spend Friday and Saturday in Maine.

In a Sanford speech last night, Nixon said the "basic cause of inflation is that the government spends more than it takes in."

Munsan, Korea, Sept. 4 (AP)—Korean armistice negotiators today ended one recess and called another after the UN command suggested that the Communists really don't want to end the fighting.

The delegates met for 51 minutes at Panmunjom in their first session since Aug. 27. No progress was reported. The Reds agreed to a UN request for a recess until Sept. 12, the sixth straight recess in the on-again off-again talks.

Police Fire Upon 10,000 in Mob; Rioter Dies to Bring Toll to Three

Bombay, India, Sept. 4 (AP)—Rioting and bloodshed swept Hyderabad city and spread today to Secunderabad in Hyderabad state, India's hotbed of Communist activity. The toll stood at three dead and many wounded in the second day of violence said to stem from Communist agitation against giving state jobs to non-Hyderabadis.

Police opened fire on unruly mobs a half dozen times in the past 24 hours. The mobs burned a police radio truck and a bus. Gangs roamed the streets forcing merchants to close their shops. Public transportation facilities were halted.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew was clamped on more than a million residents of Hyderabad—half of the Moslems. The mobs were made up of students and former members of the volunteer Moslem army that had demanded independence for Hyderabad before Indian troops entered the state in 1948 and forced it to join the Indian Union.

Rioter Is Killed

One rioter was killed and 15 wounded today when police fired on a mob of 10,000 in front of Osmania Hospital in Hyderabad city. The mob authorities refused to give the bodies to the mob, but turned them over to the bereaved relatives.

Hyderabad, in South Central India, was ruled by the fabulously wealthy Nizam of Hyderabad before it acceded to India. It has been the scene of considerable violence. One recent estimate said Communist terrorists had killed 3,500 persons and committed 8,000 robberies in the state in the past four years.

WSB Approves Raise For Area Carpenters

George E. Approval of the increase has been received from the Wage Stabilization Board to which the proposal was submitted. The increase is the result of a joint agreement submitted by the Carpenters' Council and a group of contractors.

The increase is effective in the district which includes Ulster, Sullivan, Delaware, Greene, Columbia and a small part of Schoharie counties.

Registration 5051 In Local Schools

Greatest Increase Comes In First Grade of Grammar Units

Total registration in the public schools of the city of Kingston Wednesday, the second day of the current term, was 5051, an increase of 190 pupils over a like period last year when the registration was 4861. The greatest increase in registration came in the first grade of the elementary schools where there was an increase of 41 per cent over a year ago.

There were 398 pupils registered in the first grades of the schools against 282 a year ago. In kindergarten registration there was also a marked increase with a total of 570 registered against 432 in 1951. This is an increase of 138 pupils or an increase of 32 per cent over a year ago.

No Surprise to Officials

This marked increase in the lower grade registration did not come as a surprise to school officials who have been following the trend and a pattern set by a survey made in the city some time ago. As a result of the many wartime marriages school officials have expected a very marked increase in school population at this time and this will be reflected on through the upper grades as the children progress through the school system, each year advancing one grade.

This pattern which was established through a local survey made some time ago, gave warning to the school officials of the future requirements in school buildings and the local board of education has discussed the problem numerous times at board meetings.

KHS Regsitration Drops

Only in high school students was there a dropping off of registrations. In Kingston High School the registration as of Wednesday was 1764 against a total of 1879 in 1951. This decrease of 115 students is due in part to some pupils who formerly attended the Kingston school going to newly constructed high schools such as the Onteora school at Cold Brook, and the decrease is also one expected as a result of the depression years birth rate which is just now being reflected in the high

Three Are Killed In Greene County

Ravena, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—Three youths were killed and a fourth was injured critically today when their car overturned in a ditch on Route 9W in Greene county six miles south of here.

State police identified the victims as William Tarpey, 19, of Palm Ing, East Durham; Eugene Harman, 22, of the Bronx, and Terrence J. Baxter, 20, of the Bronx.

A fourth youth, John Grogan of New York, was removed to Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, where his condition was described as "critical."

Dulles Says Truman Idea Absurd About General

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—John Foster Dulles, answering a statement by President Truman, says it is "absurd to suggest" that Dwight D. Eisenhower is seeking a revolt of unarmed peoples under the Soviet yoke.

Dulles, foreign policy advisor to the Republican presidential candidate, made the statement yesterday in replying to what he called attempts by Truman to "belittle and besmirch" Eisenhower.

Truman, speaking Tuesday at Parkersburg, W. Va., accused the Republicans of playing "cruel, gutter politics with the lives of countless good men and women behind the Iron Curtain."

Truman interpreted an earlier declaration by Eisenhower as an apparent call for revolt by nations captured by the Soviet. The President said, however, that he didn't really believe the Republicans wanted revolts but were merely bidding for votes on the issue.

Dulles' comment on that was:

"It is, of course, absurd to suggest that Gen Eisenhower anticipates invoking wholesale insurrection by unarmed slaves. Premature revolt would expose the patriotic people to liquidation."

"There are countless peaceful ways by which the tasks of the Russian despots can be made so unbearably difficult that they (enslaved peoples) will renounce their rule. That was shown in Yugoslavia."

The controversy grew from Eisenhower's address before the American Legion National Convention last week, in which he said:

"We can never rest and we must so inform all the world including the Kremlin that until the enslaved nations of the world have in the fullness of freedom the right to choose their paths, that then, and only then, can we say that there is a possible way of living peacefully and permanently with communism in the world."

Dulles, in his written statement yesterday, said "we can trust the man (Eisenhower) who won the peace, rather than the man (Truman) who lost it."

Dulles also said:

"It is natural that President Truman should resent the idea that there can be better policies than his policies. Gen. Eisenhower speaks for himself on foreign policy and other subjects."

Dulles declared "it is regrettable that President Truman allows his natural annoyance to take a form which lends encouragement to the Russian position. The Moscow Pravda on Aug. 28 and Russian Deputy Foreign Minister (Jacob) Malik on Aug. 29 made precisely the same attack on Gen. Eisenhower that President Truman now repeats.

"President Truman adds that since the Russians do not like Gen. Eisenhower's program, therefore we must not follow it. That mood of weakness, timidity and appeasement is the sure road to war • • •."

Dulles said that apparently the Democrats, "while talking liberation here at home in order to get votes from the relatives of the (Russian) captives, • • • barter away freedom in order to appease the Russian rulers."

Bank Records of 300 Persons Asked by Crime Commission

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Names of top political, labor and underworld leaders appear in a mass bank record subpoena action reportedly launched by the New York State Crime Commission, which has been digging into dock rackets and other shady activities.

The commission has refused to confirm or deny newspaper reports yesterday and today that the bank records of more than 300 New York and New Jersey residents will be inspected.

The newspapers said that scrutiny of a man's financial affairs does not necessarily mean he is involved in any wrongdoing.

The subpoenas reportedly went to more than 100 banks in New York city and adjacent Westchester, Nassau and Suffolk counties.

While New York and New Jersey authorities have pledged to cooperate in their probes of water front racketeering, it was not made clear how the New York commission—with no subpoena power outside New York state—could subpoena records from persons in New Jersey.

However, some observers said that many New Jersey residents have accounts in New York banks.

And New Jersey's Deputy Attorney General Nelson F. Stamler, who headed a gambling probe in Bergen county, said he has given the New York crime group records of New Jersey gangsters and has promised further cooperation.

Clarence E. Case, New Jersey's law enforcement council chairman, said last night his group is scheduled to meet within a day

GOP Chief Asks Fish Ouster As Obstructionist, Disgrace

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Hamilton Fish, under fire from within the Republican party, says he'll quit his GOP county committee post if he gets enough Constitutional party support in his bid for the U. S. Senate.

Fish, a former congressman, disclosed his resignation plans last night after Orange County GOP Committee Chairman Charles E. Dusenberry had demanded Fish' resignation from the committee.

But, Fish added, Dusenberry's demand had nothing to do with his plan to drop from the committee if he obtains enough nominating signatures to run for the Senate under the banner of the coalition party proposed by Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune.

Fish said he already had decided to leave his Orange county committee post, provided he gets enough Constitutional party signatures, and added:

"I require no advice or suggestions from Mr. Dusenberry in regard to any political action concerning my Republicanism."

Dusenberry made his demand yesterday because of Fish's announced intention to oppose the Republican candidacy of New York Sen. Irving M. Ives, who is seeking reelection.

The Orange county committee chairman described Fish as "an obstructionist" and "a disgrace" to the Republican party.

He called Fish's intention to seek office on the Constitutional party ticket "an act of extreme disloyalty to the Republican party" and added:

"I believe Republicans should

Tightented Statute Sought to Stop Reds–Osman Is Silent

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP)—Senate investigators described a labor union today as "under the control of agents of the Kremlin" and urged the Justice Department to consider perjury action against its officers who signed non-Communist affidavits.

A tightening of the law to prevent Communists from holding union jobs or offices also was recommended by the Senate's Internal Security subcommittee in a report on its investigation of the Distributive, Processing, and Office Workers of American (DPOWA), an independent union.

The subcommittee made public sworn testimony in which the president of the union, Arthur Osman of Brooklyn, N. Y., and a number of other top officials were identified as Communists.

Osman refused to answer when asked if he ever had been a Communist, invoking his constitutional privilege against possible self-incrimination. Other officers of the union also balked at saying whether they are or ever were members of the Communist party.

Bank Records of 300 Persons Asked by Crime Commission

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Names of top political, labor and underworld leaders appear in a mass bank record subpoena action reportedly launched by the New York State Crime Commission, which has been digging into dock rackets and other shady activities.

The commission has refused to confirm or deny newspaper reports yesterday and today that the bank records of more than 300 New York and New Jersey residents will be inspected.

The newspapers said that scrutiny of a man's financial affairs does not necessarily mean he is involved in any wrongdoing.

The subpoenas reportedly went to more than 100 banks in New York city and adjacent Westchester, Nassau and Suffolk counties.

While New York and New Jersey authorities have pledged to cooperate in their probes of water front racketeering, it was not made clear how the New York commission—with no subpoena power outside New York state—could subpoena records from persons in New Jersey.

However, some observers said that many New Jersey residents have accounts in New York banks.

And New Jersey's Deputy Attorney General Nelson F. Stamler, who headed a gambling probe in Bergen county, said he has given the New York crime group records of New Jersey gangsters and has promised further cooperation.

Clarence E. Case, New Jersey's law enforcement council chairman, said last night his group is scheduled to meet within a day

Nixon Says Cause Of Inflation Based On Federal Outlay

Ike's Running Mate Declares Honesty Is Greatest Form of Service

Sanford, Me., Sept. 4 (AP)—Senator Richard M. Nixon says that a Republican administration in Washington could give no greater service than to show that "tax dollars can be honestly and effectively spent in the public interest."

The Republican vice presidential nominee moved into Connecticut last night after a two-day tour of Maine, which will hold its state election next Monday. The California senator will spend Friday and Saturday in Maine.

In a Sanford speech last night, Nixon said the "basic cause of inflation is that the government spends more than it takes in."

He said the Democratic administration had made a "mess" of Truce Talks Enter 6th Straight Recess

Harrison Tells Negotiators Suspicion Grows Reds Hedging

Munsan, Korea, Sept. 4 (AP)—Korean armistice negotiators today ended one recess and called another after the UN command suggested that the Communists really don't want to end the fighting.

The delegates met for 51 minutes at Panmunjom in their first session since Aug. 27. No progress was reported. The Reds agreed to a UN request for a recess until Sept. 12, the sixth straight recess in the on-again off-again talks.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior allied negotiator, told the Communuists "there is a widely-held suspicion that you do not

Police Fire Upon 10,000 in Mob; Rioter Dies to Bring Toll to Three

Bombay, India, Sept. 4 (AP)—Rioting and bloodshed swept Hyderabad city and spread today to Secunderabad in Hyderabad state, India's hotbed of Communist activity. The toll stood at three dead and many wounded in the second day of violence said to stem from Communist agitation against giving state jobs to non-Hyderabadis.

Police opened fire on unruly mobs a half dozen times in the past 24 hours. The mobs burned a police radio truck and a bus. Gangs roamed the streets forcing merchants to close their shops. Public transportation facilities were halted.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew was clamped on more than a million residents of Hyderabad—half of the Moslems. The mobs were made up of students and former members of the volunteer Moslem army that had demanded independence for Hyderabad before Indian troops entered the state in 1948 and forced it to join the Indian Union.

Rioter Is Killed

One rioter was killed and 15 wounded today when police fired on a mob of 10,000 in front of Osmania Hospital in Hyderabad city. The mob authorities refused to give the bodies to the mob, but turned them over to the bereaved relatives.

Hyderabad, in South Central India, was ruled by the fabulously wealthy Nizam of Hyderabad before it acceded to India. It has been the scene of considerable violence. One recent estimate said Communist terrorists had killed 3,500 persons and committed 8,000 robberies in the state in the past four years.

WSB Approves Raise For Area Carpenters

George E. Yerry, Jr., president and general agent of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters announced today that a 12½ cent per hour raise had been granted to the carpenters in the district, bringing the hourly wage of carpenters to $2.62½; pile drivers to $3.37½ and millwrights to $3.37½ per hour, effective August 22.

Approval of the increase has been received from the Wage Stabilization Board to which the proposal was submitted. The increase is the result of a joint agreement submitted by the Carpenters' Council and a group of contractors.

The increase is effective in the district which includes Ulster, Sullivan, Delaware, Greene, Columbia and a small part of Schoharie counties.

Dulles Says Truman Idea Absurd About General

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—John Foster Dulles, answering a statement by President Truman, says it is "absurd to suggest" that Dwight D. Eisenhower is seeking a revolt of unarmed peoples under the Soviet yoke.

Dulles, foreign policy advisor to the Republican presidential candidate, made the statement yesterday in replying to what he called attempts by Truman to "belittle and besmirch" Eisenhower.

Truman, speaking Tuesday at Parkersburg, W. Va., accused the Republicans of playing "cruel, gutter politics with the lives of countless good men and women behind the Iron Curtain."

Truman interpreted an earlier declaration by Eisenhower as an apparent call for revolt by nations captured by the Soviet. The President said, however, that he didn't really believe the Republicans wanted revolts but were merely bidding for votes on the issue.

Dulles' comment on that was:

"It is, of course, absurd to suggest that Gen Eisenhower anticipates invoking wholesale insurrection by unarmed slaves. Premature revolt would expose the patriotic people to liquidation."

"There are countless peaceful ways by which the tasks of the Russian despots can be made so unbearably difficult that they (enslaved peoples) will renounce their rule. That was shown in Yugoslavia."

The controversy grew from Eisenhower's address before the American Legion National Convention last week, in which he said:

"We can never rest and we must so inform all the world including the Kremlin that until the enslaved nations of the world have in the fullness of freedom the right to choose their paths, that then, and only then, can we say that there is a possible way of living peacefully and permanently with communism in the world."

Dulles, in his written statement yesterday, said "we can trust the man (Eisenhower) who won the peace, rather than the man (Truman) who lost it."

Dulles also said:

"It is natural that President Truman should resent the idea that there can be better policies than his policies. Gen. Eisenhower speaks for himself on foreign policy and other subjects."

Dulles declared "it is regrettable that President Truman allows his natural annoyance to take a form which lends encouragement to the Russian position. The Moscow Pravda on Aug. 28 and Russian Deputy Foreign Minister (Jacob) Malik on Aug. 29 made precisely the same attack on Gen. Eisenhower that President Truman now repeats.

"President Truman adds that since the Russians do not like Gen. Eisenhower's program, therefore we must not follow it. That mood of weakness, timidity and appeasement is the sure road to war * * *."

GOP Chief Asks Fish Ouster As Obstructionist, Disgrace

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Hamilton Fish, under fire from within the Republican party, says he'll quit his GOP county committee post if he gets enough Constitutional party support in his bid for the U. S. Senate.

Fish, a former congressman, disclosed his resignation plans last night after Orange County GOP Committee Chairman Charles E. Dusenberry had demanded Fish' resignation from the committee.

But, Fish added, Dusenberry's demand had nothing to do with his plan to drop from the committee if he obtains enough nominating signatures to run for the Senate under the banner of the coalition party proposed by Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune.

Fish said he already had decided to leave his Orange county committee post, provided he gets enough Constitutional party signatures, and added:

"I require no advice or suggestions from Mr. Dusenberry in regard to any political action concerning my Republicanism."

Dusenberry made his demand yesterday because of Fish's announced intention to oppose the Republican candidacy of New York Sen. Irving M. Ives, who is seeking reelection.

The Orange county committee chairman described Fish as "an obstructionist" and "a disgrace" to the Republican party.

He called Fish's intention to seek office on the Constitutional party ticket "an act of extreme disloyalty to the Republican party" and added:

Pirates Get Iron

Manila (AP)—Scrap iron pirates are looting the naval graveyards of ships sunk off the Philippines in World War II. Senator Carlos P. Garcia wants the army to investigate. He says the government is losing money it hoped to realize from the sale of the hulls. The pirates are reported particularly active off the coasts of the east central islands of Samar and Leyte, where some of the bitterest naval engagements of the war were fought. An estimated 500 Japanese ships lie at various depts in Philippine waters. It is believed that from 500,000 to 700,000 tons of scrap can be salvaged from the sunken ships.

IKE'S TEST IS TO WEIGH ADVICE

General Eisenhower stands on the threshold of what may prove the most gruelling experience of his life. He is entering the intensive phase of his campaign for the presidency.

Since his nomination by the Republicans in early July, the general has been mapping strategy and boning up on many major issues which lay beyond his ken as a soldier-diplomat. Green in politics and untutored in domestic matters, he inevitably has had to listen to a great deal of counsel.

Now the testing time is at hand. The nation will see in the next two months what capacity Eisenhower has for learning quickly—and from scratch—a host of important things. It will see also whether he has the talent for adaptability that a man needs when he tries to switch occupations in his sixties.

His greenness is really a double handicap. Very probably he has had too much advice. He has been pulled and hauled in every direction, sometimes by men who merely want a piece of the nominee for their own selfish purposes, sometimes by men who believe they know the one and only way for Eisenhower to win.

If the signs are accurate, all this must have left the general considerably confused, and perhaps beset by doubts of the value attaching to the simple tenets of faith he preaches sincerely whenever he finds opportunity.

To crown his initial political labors with victory, Eisenhower must shed doubt and confusion and give forceful notice that he has learned his lessons well.

In other words, from the welter of advice that has showered upon him since nominating time, he must somehow extract the elements of a positive program that will act as a magnet drawing large blocks of the American electorate to his standard.

The people accept Eisenhower as a man of character and as a man of achievement in certain well-defined spheres. He was nominated because a sufficient number of convention delegates felt the people might easily believe these factors qualify him for broader responsibilities.

Whether these factors do indeed so qualify him is now for Eisenhower to demonstrate. He must show the courage to reject bad advice while he accepts good counsel. He must put his own unmistakable stamp on the constructive, positive ideas he selects from the avalanche that has hit him.

The moment is here, plainly, for Eisenhower to be himself above all. Individuals will be angry at the general for rejecting them or their advice. But the voters will have cause for anger—and disappointment—only if he fails to act forthrightly upon the advice he likes.

Only, that is, if he fails to lay before them a program of real promise for America, with the Eisenhower imprint of sincerity and faith marked indelibly upon it.

WHEN ARE VOTES SET?

When are elections decided? Many students used to say that public opinion was crystallized in August and that the hullabaloo between then and election changed no votes. The sole purpose of campaigning was to keep voters interested enough to come out and vote.

In 1948, when the professional pollers came a cropper, they excused themselves by adducing last minute changes. In particular they asserted that a good many Wallace supporters decided in the last days of the campaign to vote for Truman. Whether these statements are correct, no one knows.

This year both candidates need advertising. If Gen. Eisenhower is well known, his views are not equally so. And Governor Stevenson admits that his chief problem is to get the voters acquainted with him. On this account, it may be later than usual before the voters settle on their man.

Remember, when you take the wheel, you have DEATH in your hands. Let the day after a holiday be a holiday, too, for funeral directors. They, also, prefer to do their work under normal circumstances.

'These Days'

STOPPING A FAKE

I have always had a profound respect for the small town and country banker who serves a local American community and is rarely pressured into the uneconomic stupidities that are so characteristic of most New York bankers. The latter live in terror of government reprisals and usually cover up, with sanctimonious press-agented statements, their errors of commission which are a product of government pressure. The country banker, as long as he holds the respect and confidence of his neighbors, fears nothing from Washington.

One of the most recent efforts of Mr. Truman's administration to frighten sections of the American people into declaring themselves legal paupers and accepting government bounties because there has been a drouth. The first outstanding reporter of a drouth was Joseph in the Bible; he adopted New Deal procedures and Egypt went broke. A banker would understand why.

Mr. T. E. Williams, of the Limestone County Bank in Athens, Alabama, is not only a country banker but he must know lots of history. He published a half-page advertisement in the Limestone Democrat telling his people to stop being scared by a drouth or by the politicians. This is his advertisement:

"Mr. Farmer!

"Will it make you money to sell your cattle and hogs before they are finished under present conditions?

"We would like for you to consider the following factors before making your decision.

"1. It will take you five to eight years to grow back into the cattle business to your present level. If you sell your cattle on the present market they will bring much less than they would have brought eight weeks ago.

"2. With the recent rains, the feed situation can be greatly improved by planting a large acreage of winter grazing crops.

"We suggest a very good winter grazing combination of oats, or oats and vetch, in all row crops for extra grazing. Clover and rye grass or small grain should be planted on prepared seed bed, except when interplanted with established sericea. Permanent pastures should commence to afford reasonably good grazing within three weeks after you get normal rainfall.

"At the present we would suggest you cut and feed green corn that will not produce at least 15 bushels per acre. If you do not want to cut this corn, we think it would pay you to buy hay or concentrate rather than sell your cattle now. If you do not have ample capital to finance purchasing feed we suggest you see us.

"We also suggest you discuss your feed problems with your county agricultural agent, Soil Conservation Service, and the agricultural agent of this bank.

Limestone County Bank."

That is telling them not to listen to adversity politics but to be Americans and to use common sense. Presidents Roosevelt and Truman used every condition of nature or political event to frighten the American people. They have called conditions emergencies which were normal to any economy. They have scared the people that way. They have redistributed the wealth of the nation and made our free people increasingly dependent upon government by using wind and weather as evidence of calamity, where common sense would have served the people.

A friend of mine, driving through Virginia, writes:

"Going through Wytheville, I heard a radio broadcast that had considerable to give me pause. The speaker announced that the bankers and farmers of the county had just met and voted not . . . to ask for or accept any federal 'aid,' as it is called, in handling their drouth losses. Said the radio wise man in objection, 'They ought to think it over, again. After all, Wythe county pays taxes. Here's our chance to get some of that back. Let's not be isolationists.'"

This reminds me of a neighbor who when he died left sizeable fortune in money as well as land, timber and cattle. I used to see him working on the road in WPA days and wondered how a man of his substance, ancestry, political affiliation and standing in the community could work on the roads at 50 cents an hour. I once asked him and his reply was:

"When they're handing it out, I'm around to take it."

Apparently, he never could figure that what they were handing out, he paid. Or did he? Perhaps he had a gimmick for not paying taxes.

ECZEMA AND SKIN AILMENTS

Medical students are usually told by their professor of skin diseases that if they call every case of skin disease eczema, they will be right at least half the time. However, in Postgraduate Medicine, Dr. Ruben Nornland, Professor of Dermatology, State University of Iowa College of Medicine, Iowa City, states that for symptomatic treatment, skin conditions fall into approximately three groups: (1) acute, (2) subacute to chronic (that is, lasting some time), and (3) very chronic. Practically all the common varieties of eczema and skin inflammation may present at one time or another, any one of these three stages.

Acute or very recent inflammation of the skin is characterized by swelling, redness, formation of small blisters or visicles, oozing and crusting. The treatment of choice in practically all of these acute or recent cases is cold, wet dressing applied continuously or semi-continuously. In some cases, these dressing may be required for only two or three hours a day, while other patients may need them 24 hours a day. Usually wet dressing are left open in order to obtain the added effect of cooling from evaporation, although at night they may be covered with paraffin paper or plastic cloth. Half-saturated boric acid may be used in these dressings.

As the inflammation subsides, simple ointments may be used between the wet dressings. When this is done, the dressing may be placed right over the ointments, no need to remove ointment before applying the wet dressings. In fact, Dr. Nornland suggests that avoiding all irritation by trying to remove the ointment is the most effective treatment. For this reason he advises against the use of soap and water and substances to "cleanse" the inflamed area. These cleansers may contain substances which so irritate the inflamed area, that complications arise which prolong the inflammation for weeks or even months.

Further, the use of penicillin, in a patient sensitive or allergic to penicillin, may cause complications. Finally, "the most important factor in treatment of eczema and the common skin diseases is the avoidance of using irritating substances either to heal or clean up the skin surface affected."

In most cases, patients with skin ailments will save money and loss of time from work by consulting their family physician who if he thinks it necessary will refer him to a skin specialist.

Home treatment, except perhaps use of wet dressings, on early cases, may delay recovery.

"Ahoy, Adlai!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

DR. LEONARD A. SCHEELE

Washington—As a nation, we Americans are enjoying the best health in our history. Statistics are cold things—but they are revealing.

Our death rate last year was nine and a half persons for every thousand of our population. In 1900—only 50 years ago—it was a little over 17 in every thousand. Twenty-odd years ago—in 1925—it was 11.7.

Perhaps even more revealing are the figures on life expectancy. Children born today have a life expectancy of 68 years. In 1900 life expectancy was only 49. We have, in other words, experienced a gain of nearly 20 years!

How has this come about?

The principal overriding reason is the literally tremendous advance that has been made in medicine and scientific research in the first half of the 20th century. At no time in man's long struggle against disease have comparable gains been recorded.

Because of our better understanding of medical problems, we have greatly improved the health care of our children and youth. Diseases such as diphtheria, typhoid fever, whooping cough, and diarrhea that used to kill tens of thousands of babies and young children every year have fallen under the attack of medical science and public-health practice.

Expectant mothers get much better care during pregnancy and during the birth of their babies than did their mothers and grandmothers. Nearly nine in every ten American babies are born in hospitals, where they have a better chance to survive those crucial first days of life. All the modern equipment and special care is at hand to help many a premature baby through who couldn't have made it in earlier years.

Clean water, safe milk, improved sanitation, and better knowledge of infant feeding have been in the forefront in reducing death rates and increasing life expectancy. The average American today knows much about the "wonder drugs," penicillin, sulfa, cortisone—all miracles of modern research and medical treatment, but he takes for granted the equally miraculous preventive work of his state and local health departments.

The public-health physicians, dentists, nurses, engineers, sanitarians, and other members of the health team in our states and communities are the heroes—often unsung—who play such a big part in making our homes, communities, and our very lives safer and more healthy. They make it possible for us to drink more milk per capita than any other people in the world—because they keep it safe.

They guard our water supplies and make it possible for us to eat in restaurants, on trains and planes and other public places without giving a thought for their safety. They stand guard against a host of communicable diseases that once afflicted hundreds of thousands, but today rarely occur.

Every community's small investment in public-health work pays enormous dividends. Even the "chills" of malaria—which as recently as 1940 cost our southern states $500,000,000 in sickness, lost time, and low production—have disappeared under the organized public-health attack on mosquitoes.

Because we have conquered so many communicable diseases, we now have more people living to the ages when they are more likely to suffer from such chronic diseases as cancer, arthritis, heart ailments and we need a great deal more research to give us answers to these grave problems.

Our great American philanthropic foundations, endowed by individuals or families, and our voluntary health agencies, supported by generous public subscription, have leveled large-scale research attacks on many of the chief killers and cripplers of today. The American Cancer Society, for example, is spending over $3,000,000 a year on research. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is spending comparable amounts to conquer dread poliomyelitis.

Conquest of Disease

The citizens of our country, through Congress, are determined that their government, too, shall help speed up the conquest of disease. In 1930, Congress created the National Institute of Health in the public health service, and in 1937, a national cancer institute.

Since 1945, Congress has created five more national institutes—in mental health, dental research, heart disease, arthritis and the metabolic diseases, and in the neurological diseases and blindness. In these institutes, scientists in many fields are studying the major health problems of today. The public health service also has groups of research workers at Atlanta, Cincinnati, in Montana, Alaska and other places.

Through the grants-in-aid of our institutes, the Public Health Service gives financial assistance to thousands of research workers in universities and other institutions throughout the country.

To cope with the shortage of research scientists, large-scale research-training programs are under way in all of the nation's major teaching and research institutions. Many young scientists receive fellowships from the Public Health Service, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the National Science Foundation. Many more personnel—and much more money—are needed to develop our great fund of unexploited research ideas.

To guide the research programs of the Public Health Service and recommend worth-while projects for research grants, the Congress very wisely created advisory councils composed of distinguished men and women outside of government. Scientists, physicians, and citizens prominent in public life serve on these councils. They are chosen from all parts of the country.

As surgeon general of the Public Health Service, I can award a research grant only on the recommendation of these councils. This teamwork between citizens and government officials is one of America's great strengths.

New Research Center

For the last four years, all of us in the Public Health Service have been looking forward to the completion of the new 500-bed clinical research center on the grounds of the National Institutes of Health. Here, next spring, in Bethesda, Md., near Washington, D. C. we will add clinical research—the study of patients—to our laboratory work.

While we speak of achievements at home and the challenge of the future, we should remember that in many parts of the world the situation is vastly different. More than half the people of the earth suffer from disease annually. Large areas of the earth are educationally, agriculturally and industrially underdeveloped because their populations are ridden with disease.

Man has the knowledge and he has the World Health Organization and the Point 4 and other technical-assistance programs the framework for moving toward a world in which the released energies of mankind literally can transform the face of the globe. We work toward that goal through the efforts of world health, in my view one of the great challenges of this second half of a notable century.

The Holdover Governor

Morgan G. Bulkeley (1838-1922) ran for Governor of Connecticut in 1889. None of the candidates received a majority of the popular vote and the election therefore devolved upon the state legislature which made Bulkeley governor. At the next election, the people again failed to elect a governor by popular vote, but this time the two legislative bodies, being of different political faiths, could not agree. A deadlock resulted and, in accordance with the provision of the state constitution, Gov. Bulkeley—although neither elected nor appointed—continued to hold office for another full term.

Today in Washington

First Principle: Judge What Is Best for Nation in Casting Ballot

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 4 — Many people have mistakenly assumed that the presidential campaign is just a contest between two good men. In fact, one widely heard comment is that, since both are good men, "it doesn't make any real difference who is elected."

This is a fallacy which shows a lack of familiarity with the two-party system in America. It overlooks the importance of appraising the responsibility of the party in power—the administration or the regime which exercises authority under a representative system of government.

Many voters are asking how to judge the campaign and its issues. The first principle to understand is that the contest is not between General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson as personalities, except in the sense that each is a symbol of party responsibility.

The real contest is between the "Democratic party in Washington" and its opponents outside of Washington—the Republicans and Democrats who disapprove of what the Democratic party has done in Washington. This contest is to determine also how many Democrats and Republicans outside of Washington will vote to approve the "Democratic party in Washington." Virtually every appointment to a post of responsibility in every department and agency of the government, excepting employes in civil service, in the last four years—even the appointment of the director of Civilian Defense—has had to be "cleared" through the Democratic national committee's office.

If the record of four years of the Democratic administration were brushed aside and only the proposed record of the Democratic nominee, as reflected in his speeches, were made the basis for judgment, it would not be fair to either the outgoing Democratic president or the Democratic nominee. It would not offer any mandate for the conduct of future administrations.

If that were to happen, it would mean that hereafter any president in his second term—for his re-election for a third term now is barred by the constitution—could be as reckless and irresponsible as he pleased and even could tolerate corruption among those around him in public office, and all the party in power would have to do would be to select some other candidate and everything would be forgiven.

When a cashier in a bank steals money, he isn't allowed to go unpunished just because an honest cashier is at hand to take his place. In the matter of party responsibility, if the party in power is guilty of failing to do its duty or of having made tragic blunders, will the American system of party government be helped if it is voted another four years of authority? Conversely, if the Democratic nominee can show by his arguments in public speeches that the record of the past four years has been a good one and deserves to be approved at the polls, then the vote of the people means vindication for President Truman. Mr. Truman certainly would be entitled to the claim of vindication if the majority of the voters upheld the Democratic party, and it would be proper to continue and enlarge upon his policies by following the same line.

The basic idea which has been an American tradition is that the party in power shall be held strictly accountable for what it does. The people every four years must say whether they approve what has been done or whether they want the party in power ousted and another party given an opportunity to make the necessary changes.

Lately, some Democrats have argued that a change to Governor Stevenson, admittedly a good man, is enough. The implication has been that there would be a different personnel in Washington. There has been a hint, moreover, that some Truman policies might be changed, too. But this doesn't establish any clear-cut basis for responsible party government. If a party in power can escape punishment when it is bad or if any party which has made a good record is not to be given a vote of approval by the people for what it has done just because a good man has been nominated on the opposite ticket, then the whole structure of party government collapses. General Eisenhower is a good man but, if the people really want the Truman record upheld, they cannot get their wish by voting for the Republican nominee.

The Democrats are, of course, saying that the alternative—the Republican party — may not be any better or that the Republicans in the past have also had their scandals. This assumes that it is a proper defense against wrongdoing to argue that others have been guilty, too. The sound principle is that every party must be held strictly accountable and that, if the opposition party wins the election, it will have thereby received notice that at the end of four years it will be removed, too, should it fail to serve the people.

Only by pressure on both parties—by punishing one or rewarding the other—can good government be assured.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The explanation of Adlai Stevenson's touchy attitude toward the exposes of Communists and their accomplices in the American government may lie in the fact that Adlai himself is a happy hot dog of the Harvard law cult which was planted in the new deal by Felix Frankfurter soon after F. D. Roosevelt took over.

Stevenson was a long-time associate of Alger Hiss and other red hot alumni of the Frankfurter classes in the treacherous bureaucracy and a suspicious fact develops on comparison of his biographical stuff in Who's Who with the text of his testimony as a character witness for Hiss.

In Who's Who Stevenson says nothing about having been a law student under Frankfurter at Harvard. And the fact may be significant too, that counsel for Hiss did not ask any questions on that point.

But on cross-interrogation, Stevenson was asked:

Q.—State whether you ever attended Harvard College or Harvard Law School.

The answer was: Harvard Law School, September, 1922, to June, 1924.

If Stevenson takes any pride in the education or inculcation which he received under the teacher who educated both of the Hiss brothers, and Leon Pressman and Nathan Witt, both notorious Communists, he is too modest to boast of it.

It is not amiss to observe at this point, too, that when Alger Hiss was in the early stages of his examination, he begged the Thomas Commitee on Un-American Activities not to compel him to reveal the name of the man who had been his sponsor, or, in other words, had spotted him in the government service. Robert Stripling, the committee's chief investigator, knew that Frankfurter was the man and insisted on a truthful answer. With almost tearful reluctance, as though he thought the disclosure might bring shame on old Weenie, Hiss finally admitted that Frankfurter had been the man.

The fact that Frankfurter did build up a veritable system in the government is well established. In one of his commercial exploitations of his government service Harold Ickes disclosed that in a social conversation with Frankfurter he learned from Weenie that Weenie had even planted Henry L. Stimson as secretary of war. Of course no justice of the Supreme Court has any proper right to build up a political machine of personal devotees and proteges in the secret nooks of government, but this did not deter Frankfurter who brought a unique concept of propriety to the job.

It turns out on further, although perhaps not quite thorough, inspection of his past, that Adlai Stevenson was, in a pompous old oratorical cliche, cheek by jowl with a lot of Reds, who have since become notorious, from the very start of his gov-

STOPPING A FAKE

I have always had a profound respect for the small town and country banker who serves a local American community and is rarely pressured into the uneconomic stupidities that are so characteristic of most New York bankers. The latter live in terror of government reprisals and usually cover up, with sanctimonious press-agented statements, their errors of commission which are a product of government pressure. The country banker, as long as he holds the respect and confidence of his neighbors, fears nothing from Washington.

One of the most recent efforts of Mr. Truman's administration to frighten sections of the American people into declaring themselves legal paupers and accepting government bounties because there has been a drouth. The first outstanding reporter of a drouth was Joseph in the Bible; he adopted New Deal procedures and Egypt went broke. A banker would understand why.

Mr. T. E. Williams, of the Limestone County Bank in Athens, Alabama, is not only a country banker but he must know lots of history. He published a half-page advertisement in the Limestone Democrat telling his people to stop being scared by a drouth or by the politicians. This is his advertisement:

"Mr. Farmer!

"Will it make you money to sell your cattle and hogs before they are finished under present conditions?

"We would like for you to consider the following factors before making your decision.

"1. It will take you five to eight years to grow back into the cattle business to your present level. If you sell your cattle on the present market they will bring much less than they would have brought eight weeks ago.

"2. With the recent rains, the feed situation can be greatly improved by planting a large acreage of winter grazing crops.

"We suggest a very good winter grazing combination of oats, or oats and vetch, in all row crops for extra grazing. Clover and rye grass or small grain should be planted on prepared seed bed, except when interplanted with established sericea. Permanent pastures should commence to afford reasonably good grazing within three weeks after you get normal rainfall.

"At the present we would suggest you cut and feed green corn that will not produce at least 15 bushels per acre. If you do not want to cut this corn, we think it would pay you to buy hay or concentrate rather than sell your cattle now. If you do not have ample capital to finance purchasing feed we suggest you see us.

"We also suggest you discuss your feed problems with your county agricultural agent, Soil Conservation Service, and the agricultural agent of this bank.

Limestone County Bank."

That is telling them not to listen to adversity politics but to be Americans and to use common sense. Presidents Roosevelt and Truman used every condition of nature or political event to frighten the American people. They have called conditions emergencies which were normal to any economy. They have scared the people that way. They have redistributed the wealth of the nation and made our free people increasingly dependent upon government by using wind and weather as evidence of calamity, where common sense would have served the people.

A friend of mine, driving through Virginia, writes:

"Going through Wytheville, I heard a radio broadcast that had considerable to give me pause. The speaker announced that the bankers and farmers of the county had just met and voted not . . . to ask for or accept any federal 'aid,' as it is called, in handling their drouth losses. Said the radio wise man in objection, 'They ought to think it over, again. After all, Wythe county pays taxes. Here's our chance to get some of that back. Let's not be isolationists.'"

This reminds me of a neighbor who when he died left sizeable fortune in money as well as land, timber and cattle. I used to see him working on the road in WPA days and wondered how a man of his substance, ancestry, political affiliation and standing in the community could work on the roads at 50 cents an hour. I once asked him and his reply was:

"When they're handing it out, I'm around to take it."

Apparently, he never could figure that what they were handing out, he paid. Or did he? Perhaps he had a gimmick for not paying taxes.

ECZEMA AND SKIN AILMENTS

Medical students are usually told by their professor of skin diseases that if they call every case of skin disease eczema, they will be right at least half the time. However, in Postgraduate Medicine, Dr. Ruben Nornland, Professor of Dermatology, State University of Iowa College of Medicine, Iowa City, states that for symptomatic treatment, skin conditions fall into approximately three groups: (1) acute, (2) subacute to chronic (that is, lasting some time), and (3) very chronic. Practically all the common varieties of eczema and skin inflammation may present at one time or another, any one of these three stages.

Acute or very recent inflammation of the skin is characterized by swelling, redness, formation of small blisters or visicles, oozing and crusting. The treatment of choice in practically all of these acute or recent cases is cold, wet dressing applied continuously or semi-continuously. In some cases, these dressing may be required for only two or three hours a day, while other patients may need them 24 hours a day. Usually wet dressing are left open in order to obtain the added effect of cooling from evaporation, although at night they may be covered with paraffin paper or plastic cloth. Half-saturated boric acid may be used in these dressings.

As the inflammation subsides, simple ointments may be used between the wet dressings. When this is done, the dressing may be placed right over the ointments, no need to remove ointment before applying the wet dressings. In fact, Dr. Nornland suggests that avoiding all irritation by trying to remove the ointment is the most effective treatment. For this reason he advises against the use of soap and water and substances to "cleanse" the inflamed area. These cleansers may contain substances which so irritate the inflamed area, that complications arise which prolong the inflammation for weeks or even months.

Further, the use of penicillin, in a patient sensitive or allergic to penicillin, may cause complications. Finally, "the most important factor in treatment of eczema and the common skin diseases is the avoidance of using irritating substances either to heal or clean up the skin surface affected."

In most cases, patients with skin ailments will save money and loss of time from work by consulting their family physician who if he thinks it necessary will refer him to a skin specialist.

Home treatment, except perhaps use of wet dressings, on early cases, may delay recovery.

"Ahoy, Adlai!"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

DR. LEONARD A. SCHEELE

Washington—As a nation, we Americans are enjoying the best health in our history. Statistics are cold things—but they are revealing.

Our death rate last year was nine and a half persons for every thousand of our population. In 1900—only 50 years ago—it was a little over 17 in every thousand. Twenty-odd years ago—in 1925—it was 11.7.

Perhaps even more revealing are the figures on life expectancy. Children born today have a life expectancy of 68 years. In 1900 life expectancy was only 49. We have, in other words, experienced a gain of nearly 20 years!

How has this come about?

The principal overriding reason is the literally tremendous advance that has been made in medicine and scientific research in the first half of the 20th century. At no time in man's long struggle against disease have comparable gains been recorded.

Because of our better understanding of medical problems, we have greatly improved the health care of our children and youth. Diseases such as diphtheria, typhoid fever, whooping cough, and diarrhea that used to kill tens of thousands of babies and young children every year have fallen under the attack of medical science and public-health practice.

Expectant mothers get much better care during pregnancy and during the birth of their babies than did their mothers and grandmothers. Nearly nine in every ten American babies are born in hospitals, where they have a better chance to survive those crucial first days of life. All the modern equipment and special care is at hand to help many a premature baby through who couldn't have made it in earlier years.

Clean water, safe milk, improved sanitation, and better knowledge of infant feeding have been in the forefront in reducing death rates and increasing life expectancy. The average American today knows much about the "wonder drugs," penicillin, sulfa, cortisone—all miracles of modern research and medical treatment, but he takes for granted the equally miraculous preventive work of his state and local health departments.

The public-health physicians, dentists, nurses, engineers, sanitarians, and other members of the health team in our states and communities are the heroes—often unsung—who play such a big part in making our homes, communities, and our very lives safer and more healthy. They make it possible for us to drink more milk per capita than any other people in the world—because they keep it safe.

They guard our water supplies and make it possible for us to eat in restaurants, on trains and planes and other public places without giving a thought for their safety. They stand guard against a host of communicable diseases that once afflicted hundreds of thousands, but today rarely occur.

Every community's small investment in public-health work pays enormous dividends. Even the "chills" of malaria—which as recently as 1940 cost our southern states $500,000,000 in sickness, lost time, and low production—have disappeared under the organized public-health attack on mosquitoes.

Because we have conquered so many communicable diseases, we now have more people living to the ages when they are more likely to suffer from such chronic diseases as cancer, arthritis, heart ailments and we need a great deal more research to give us answers to these grave problems.

Our great American philanthropic foundations, endowed by individuals or families, and our voluntary health agencies, supported by generous public subscription, have leveled large-scale research attacks on many of the chief killers and cripplers of today. The American Cancer Society, for example, is spending over $3,000,000 a year on research. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is spending comparable amounts to conquer dread poliomyelitis.

Conquest of Disease

The citizens of our country, through Congress, are determined that their government, too, shall help speed up the conquest of disease. In 1930, Congress created the National Institute of Health in the public health service, and in 1937, a national cancer institute.

Since 1945, Congress has created five more national institutes—in mental health, dental research, heart disease, arthritis and the metabolic diseases, and in the neurological diseases and blindness. In these institutes, scientists in many fields are studying the major health problems of today. The public health service also has groups of research workers at Atlanta, Cincinnati, in Montana, Alaska and other places.

Through the grants-in-aid of our institutes, the Public Health Service gives financial assistance to thousands of research workers in universities and other institutions throughout the country.

To cope with the shortage of research scientists, large-scale research-training programs are under way in all of the nation's major teaching and research institutions. Many young scientists receive fellowships from the Public Health Service, the Atomic Energy Commission, and the National Science Foundation. Many more personnel—and much more money—are needed to develop our great fund of unexploited research ideas.

To guide the research programs of the Public Health Service and recommend worth-while projects for research grants, the Congress very wisely created advisory councils composed of distinguished men and women outside of government. Scientists, physicians, and citizens prominent in public life serve on these councils. They are chosen from all parts of the country.

As surgeon general of the Public Health Service, I can award a research grant only on the recommendation of these councils. This teamwork between citizens and government officials is one of America's great strengths.

New Research Center

For the last four years, all of us in the Public Health Service have been looking forward to the completion of the new 500-bed clinical research center on the grounds of the National Institutes of Health. Here, next spring, in Bethesda, Md., near Washington, D. C. we will add clinical research—the study of patients—to our laboratory work.

While we speak of achievements at home and the challenge of the future, we should remember that in many parts of the world the situation is vastly different. More than half the people of the earth suffer from disease annually. Large areas of the earth are educationally, agriculturally and industrially underdeveloped because their populations are ridden with disease.

Man has the knowledge and he has the World Health Organization and the Point 4 and other technical-assistance programs the framework for moving toward a world in which the released energies of mankind literally can transform the face of the globe. We work toward that goal through the efforts of world health, in my view one of the great challenges of this second half of a notable century.

The Holdover Governor

Morgan G. Bulkeley (1838-1922) ran for Governor of Connecticut in 1889. None of the candidates received a majority of the popular vote and the election therefore devolved upon the state legislature which made Bulkeley governor. At the next election, the people again failed to elect a governor by popular vote, but this time the two legislative bodies, being of different political faiths, could not agree. A deadlock resulted and, in accordance with the provision of the state constitution, Gov. Bulkeley—although neither elected nor appointed—continued to hold office for another full term.

Today in Washington

First Principle: Judge What Is Best for Nation in Casting Ballot

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 4 — Many people have mistakenly assumed that the presidential campaign is just a contest between two good men. In fact, one widely heard comment is that, since both are good men, "it doesn't make any real difference who is elected."

This is a fallacy which shows a lack of familiarity with the two-party system in America. It overlooks the importance of appraising the responsibility of the party in power—the administration or the regime which exercises authority under a representative system of government.

Many voters are asking how to judge the campaign and its issues. The first principle to understand is that the contest is not between General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson as personalities, except in the sense that each is a symbol of party responsibility.

The real contest is between the "Democratic party in Washington" and its opponents outside of Washington—the Republicans and Democrats who disapprove of what the Democratic party has done in Washington. This contest is to determine also how many Democrats and Republicans outside of Washington will vote to approve the "Democratic party in Washington." Virtually every appointment to a post of responsibility in every department and agency of the government, excepting employes in civil service, in the last four years—even the appointment of the director of Civilian Defense—has had to be "cleared" through the Democratic national committee's office.

If the record of four years of the Democratic administration were brushed aside and only the proposed record of the Democratic nominee, as reflected in his speeches, were made the basis for judgment, it would not be fair to either the outgoing Democratic president or the Democratic nominee. It would not offer any mandate for the conduct of future administrations.

If that were to happen, it would mean that hereafter any president in his second term—for his re-election for a third term now is barred by the constitution—could be as reckless and irresponsible as he pleased and even could tolerate corruption among those around him in public office, and all the party in power would have to do would be to select some other candidate and everything would be forgiven.

When a cashier in a bank steals money, he isn't allowed to go unpunished just because an honest cashier is at hand to take his place. In the matter of party responsibility, if the party in power is guilty of failing to do its duty or of having made tragic blunders, will the American system of party government be helped if it is voted another four years of authority? Conversely, if the Democratic nominee can show by his arguments in public speeches that the record of the past four years has been a good one and deserves to be approved at the polls, then the vote of the people means vindication for President Truman. Mr. Truman certainly would be entitled to the claim of vindication if the majority of the voters upheld the Democratic party, and it would be proper to continue and enlarge upon his policies by following the same line.

The basic idea which has been an American tradition is that the party in power shall be held strictly accountable for what it does. The people every four years must say whether they approve what has been done or whether they want the party in power ousted and another party given an opportunity to make the necessary changes.

Lately, some Democrats have argued that a change to Governor Stevenson, admittedly a good man, is enough. The implication has been that there would be a different personnel in Washington. There has been a hint, moreover, that some Truman policies might be changed, too. But this doesn't establish any clear-cut basis for responsible party government. If a party in power can escape punishment when it is bad or if any party which has made a good record is not to be given a vote of approval by the people for what it has done just because a good man has been nominated on the opposite ticket, then the whole structure of party government collapses. General Eisenhower is a good man but, if the people really want the Truman record upheld, they cannot get their wish by voting for the Republican nominee.

The Democrats are, of course, saying that the alternative—the Republican party — may not be any better or that the Republicans in the past have also had their scandals. This assumes that it is a proper defense against wrongdoing to argue that others have been guilty, too. The sound principle is that every party must be held strictly accountable and that, if the opposition party wins the election, it will have thereby received notice that at the end of four years it will be removed, too, should it fail to serve the people.

Only by pressure on both parties—by punishing one or rewarding the other—can good government be assured.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The explanation of Adlai Stevenson's touchy attitude toward the exposes of Communists and their accomplices in the American government may lie in the fact that Adlai himself is a happy hot dog of the Harvard law cult which was planted in the new deal by Felix Frankfurter soon after F. D. Roosevelt took over.

Stevenson was a long-time associate of Alger Hiss and other red hot alumni of the Frankfurter classes in the treacherous bureaucracy and a suspicious fact develops on comparison of his biographical stuff in Who's Who with the text of his testimony as a character witness for Hiss.

In Who's Who Stevenson says nothing about having been a law student under Frankfurter at Harvard. And the fact may be significant too, that counsel for Hiss did not ask any questions on that point.

But on cross-interrogation, Stevenson was asked:

Q.—State whether you ever attended Harvard College or Harvard Law School.

The answer was: Harvard Law School, September, 1922, to June, 1924.

If Stevenson takes any pride in the education or inculcation which he received under the teacher who educated both of the Hiss brothers, and Leon Pressman and Nathan Witt, both notorious Communists, he is too modest to boast of it.

It is not amiss to observe at this point, too, that when Alger Hiss was in the early stages of his examination, he begged the Thomas Commitee on Un-American Activities not to compel him to reveal the name of the man who had been his sponsor, or, in other words, had spotted him in the government service. Robert Stripling, the committee's chief investigator, knew that Frankfurter was the man and insisted on a truthful answer. With almost tearful reluctance, as though he thought the disclosure might bring shame on old Weenie, Hiss finally admitted that Frankfurter had been the man.

The fact that Frankfurter did build up a veritable system in the government is well established. In one of his commercial exploitations of his government service Harold Ickes disclosed that in a social conversation with Frankfurter he learned from Weenie that Weenie had even planted Henry L. Stimson as secretary of war. Of course no justice of the Supreme Court has any proper right to build up a political machine of personal devotees and proteges in the secret nooks of government, but this did not deter Frankfurter who brought a unique concept of propriety to the job.

It turns out on further, although perhaps not quite thorough, inspection of his past, that Adlai Stevenson was, in a pompous old oratorical cliche, cheek by jowl with a lot of Reds, who have since become notorious, from the very start of his gov-

Dewey Tells Throng at Fair Issues Boil Down to Liberty

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—Gov. Dewey declares the bedrock question before the American voter is who can "best clean out the mess in Washington" and keep the nation strong and free in this "critical time."

In what he said was a "nonpartisan" talk on politics last night at the New York State Fair, the Republican governor, who will stump the state for Dwight D. Eisenhower, said there are "five major issues before us." Dewey said they "boil down to the simple question of liberty."

He listed:

1. "Who can best keep America strong, calm and effective enough so the Communists cannot pick up the world bit by bit and will not dare launch total war?"

2. "Who can best clean out the mess in Washington?"

3. "Who can best cut down the almost unbearable cost of government?"

4. "We have full employment but how long will it last, nurtured as it is by a war boom?"

5. "Which presidential candidate (Eisenhower or Democratic Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois) will be the best guarantee that our heritage of freedom shall be maintained? Which is most likely to avoid the class struggle and be the servant of all the people?"

Both Agree on Mess

Both candidates, he said, have agreed that "there is a mess in Washington" and that isolationism is not an issue.

"There must be no more bungles which create vacuums into which the Communists move and start wars as they did in Korea," Dewey told a dinner audience of 700 farm and business leaders.

Republican answers to Dewey's questions were spelled out by U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives in a talk to about 800 persons at a meeting of the Sullivan County Republican Committee in Monticello.

The Norwich lawmaker said no Democrat could do the job of government housecleannig that needs to be done. "But I have an idea," Ives continued, "that mess will be cleaned up in the shortest possible time with Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Ives, who is running for reelection against Democrat John Cashmore, Brooklyn borough president, added:

"We must have someone at the head of the government for whom the Kremlin has some respect and the Kremlin gang does have a high respect for one American—Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Dewey was to tour the fair grounds today, "Governor's Day," and give a talk at Empire Court.

Highland Woman Is Rescued From River

A Highland woman, about 46 years old, attempted suicide shortly before noon yesterday by jumping into the Hudson river near the railroad station at the east end of the village, Highland state police reported today.

She was rescued by two railroad employes, Janson Sahler of Highland and an unknown brakeman, and was removed to the home of a nearby relative, state police said.

Sgt. L. Baker and Trooper J. S. Metzer of the Highland station, who investigated, said that the woman, who had been having family difficulties, apparently suffered no ill effects from her immersion.

Dewey Tells Throng at Fair Issues Boil Down to Liberty

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—Gov. Dewey declares the bedrock question before the American voter is who can "best clean out the mess in Washington" and keep the nation strong and free in this "critical time."

In what he said was a "nonpartisan" talk on politics last night at the New York State Fair, the Republican governor, who will stump the state for Dwight D. Eisenhower, said there are "five major issues before us." Dewey said they "boil down to the simple question of liberty."

He listed:

1. "Who can best keep America strong, calm and effective enough so the Communists cannot pick up the world bit by bit and will not dare launch total war?"

2. "Who can best clean out the mess in Washington?"

3. "Who can best cut down the almost unbearable cost of government?"

4. "We have full employment but how long will it last, nurtured as it is by a war boom?"

5. "Which presidential candidate (Eisenhower or Democratic Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois) will be the best guarantee that our heritage of freedom shall be maintained? Which is most likely to avoid the class struggle and be the servant of all the people?"

Both Agree on Mess

Both candidates, he said, have agreed that "there is a mess in Washington" and that isolationism is not an issue.

"There must be no more bungles which create vacuums into which the Communists move and start wars as they did in Korea," Dewey told a dinner audience of 700 farm and business leaders.

Republican answers to Dewey's questions were spelled out by U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives in a talk to about 800 persons at a meeting of the Sullivan County Republican Committee in Monticello.

The Norwich lawmaker said no Democrat could do the job of government housecleannig that needs to be done. "But I have an idea," Ives continued, "that mess will be cleaned up in the shortest possible time with Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Ives, who is running for reelection against Democrat John Cashmore, Brooklyn borough president, added:

"We must have someone at the head of the government for whom the Kremlin has some respect and the Kremlin gang does have a high respect for one American—Dwight D. Eisenhower."

Dewey was to tour the fair grounds today, "Governor's Day," and give a talk at Empire Court.

Who's Got the Button?

In normal years, 300 factories in the United States turn out about 10,000,000,000 buttons annually, or about 70 for each man, woman, and child in the country.

In using balloons to lift objects, about 13 cubic feet of hydrogen is required to lift one pound.

Highland Woman Is Rescued From River

A Highland woman, about 46 years old, attempted suicide shortly before noon yesterday by jumping into the Hudson river near the railroad station at the east end of the village, Highland state police reported today.

She was rescued by two railroad employes, Janson Sahler of Highland and an unknown brakeman, and was removed to the home of a nearby relative, state police said.

Sgt. L. Baker and Trooper J. S. Metzer of the Highland station, who investigated, said that the woman, who had been having family difficulties, apparently suffered no ill effects from her immersion.

Indo-China Clean-Up

Hanoi, Indo-China (AP)—In North Vietnam hard-hitting Governor Pham Van Binh is pushing a widespread "clean up" within the national guard, security services and all branches of government administration. All persons ousted by the governor face trial before the courts, with severe penalties demanded for all wrong-doers. Expansion of the Vietnamese armed forces and fuller mobilization of Vietnam's economy in the war against the Vietminh alongside the French Union forces is a cardinal aim of the new Vietnamese government headed by Premier Nguyen Van Tam.

McCarthy Begins Reelection Drive

Milwaukee, Sept. 4 (AP)—Sen. Joseph McCarthy launched his drive for reelection last night with a fierce attack on Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee.

At the same time McCarthy, one of the prime targets of Democrats in the national election campaign, told listeners "I need your votes next Tuesday. I need them badly."

The time for carrying his speech over 31 Wisconsin radio stations elapsed before McCarthy struck at Stevenson for what he called the Illinois governor's "all out" support of Alger Hiss, convicted of perjury for denying he had passed State Department secrets to Whittaker Chambers.

"Mr. Stevenson, you went out of your way to berate me," McCarthy told his overflow audience at suburban Shorewood.

Speaks of Hiss

"You swore to your Almighty God that Alger Hiss has a reputation for truthfulness—you say McCarthy is a liar.

"You swore under oath that Hiss has on outstanding reputation for integrity—you say McCarthy has no integrity.

"You swore under oath that Alger Hiss is a great American—you say McCarthy is unAmerican.

"Well, after your record is given the American people, if they want you, they can have you. I don't think they do."

(Stevenson gave a deposition in the Alger Hiss trial in which he said that from what he heard from others Hiss' reputation for loyalty, integrity and honesty in 1948 was "good."

Recalls Program

(In a television program last March 30 Stevenson said regarding the deposition:

("That was the question that was asked me:—From what you have heard from others what is his reputation? And I would say this, I'm a lawyer. I think that one of the most fundamental responsibilities not only for every citizen, but particularly of lawyers, is to give testimony in a court of law, to give it honestly and willingly, and it will be a very unhappy day for Anglo-Saxon justice when a man, even a man in public life, is too timid to state what he knows and what he has heard about a defendant in a criminal trial for fear that defendant might later be convicted. That would to me be the ultimate timidity.")

McCarthy's campaign was delayed by major surgery in July and he has been recuperating in northern Wisconsin before taking active part in the hot state campaign. His principal opponent in the Sept. 9 primary is Leonard Schmitt, an attorney of Merrill, Wis., who has been holding radio talkathons in the state.

regular meeting tonight.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, in a letter dated Aug. 15, asked the water board to consider favorable action on the proposal to fluoridate the city's water supply, and it is expected that the letter will be discussed at tonight's meeting of the board.

The mayor said the proposal was first brought to the attention of the water board more than a year ago, and action has since been deferred.

Meanwhile, he said, he has met with various groups and officials and concluded that the city would benefit by fluoridation which, authoritive sources say, tends to lessen dental cares.

Used as Test City

In a state test, which began several years ago, Kingston remained the control or abstaining city while the Newburgh water supply was fluoridated. A state health department report on the experiment said it showed favorable effects on dental health in Newburgh.

The town of Esopus last year showed interest in fluoridation, but definite action there has also been deferred. A county health official said no other applications have been made, to date, for fluoridation.

Required to Swear

The non-Communist affidavits of the Taft-Hartley law require a union official to swear only that he is not a Communist at the time he signs. He could legally sign the affidavit and still have been a Communist the day before and the next day.

The Justice Department has contended that because of this the provision is ineffective. A spokesman for the department told a reporter that no one has been convicted of violating that part of the Taft-Hartley Act.

In a statement accompanying the subcommittee report, McCarran said the DPOWA "has advanced the Communist cause in many ways" and also has "become rich and powerful by preying on the gullibility of Negro workers and the fear and helplessness of small businessmen."

Public hearings held by the subcommittee in Memphis, Tenn., last fall brought out that about 95 per cent of the 1,100 members of the union's local there were Negroes.

Children Should Be SEEN and NOT HURT!

Annually for many years we have used the above phrase as a reminder to DRIVE CAREFULLY AND CAUTIOUSLY. School is open again, and our streets and highways become paths to learning and play for the children of our community. McCarthy Begins Reelection Drive

Milwaukee, Sept. 4 (AP)—Sen. Joseph McCarthy launched his drive for reelection last night with a fierce attack on Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee.

At the same time McCarthy, one of the prime targets of Democrats in the national election campaign, told listeners "I need your votes next Tuesday. I need them badly."

The time for carrying his speech over 31 Wisconsin radio stations elapsed before McCarthy struck at Stevenson for what he called the Illinois governor's "all out" support of Alger Hiss, convicted of perjury for denying he had passed State Department secrets to Whittaker Chambers.

"Mr. Stevenson, you went out of your way to berate me," McCarthy told his overflow audience at suburban Shorewood.

Speaks of Hiss

"You swore to your Almighty God that Alger Hiss has a reputation for truthfulness—you say McCarthy is a liar.

"You swore under oath that Hiss has on outstanding reputation for integrity—you say McCarthy has no integrity.

"You swore under oath that Alger Hiss is a great American—you say McCarthy is unAmerican.

"Well, after your record is given the American people, if they want you, they can have you. I don't think they do."

(Stevenson gave a deposition in the Alger Hiss trial in which he said that from what he heard from others Hiss' reputation for loyalty, integrity and honesty in 1948 was "good."

Recalls Program

(In a television program last March 30 Stevenson said regarding the deposition:

("That was the question that was asked me:—From what you have heard from others what is his reputation? And I would say this, I'm a lawyer. I think that one of the most fundamental responsibilities not only for every citizen, but particularly of lawyers, is to give testimony in a court of law, to give it honestly and willingly, and it will be a very unhappy day for Anglo-Saxon justice when a man, even a man in public life, is too timid to state what he knows and what he has heard about a defendant in a criminal trial for fear that defendant might later be convicted. That would to me be the ultimate timidity.")

McCarthy's campaign was delayed by major surgery in July and he has been recuperating in northern Wisconsin before taking active part in the hot state campaign. His principal opponent in the Sept. 9 primary is Leonard Schmitt, an attorney of Merrill, Wis., who has been holding radio talkathons in the state.

regular meeting tonight.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, in a letter dated Aug. 15, asked the water board to consider favorable action on the proposal to fluoridate the city's water supply, and it is expected that the letter will be discussed at tonight's meeting of the board.

The mayor said the proposal was first brought to the attention of the water board more than a year ago, and action has since been deferred.

Meanwhile, he said, he has met with various groups and officials and concluded that the city would benefit by fluoridation which, authoritive sources say, tends to lessen dental cares.

Used as Test City

In a state test, which began several years ago, Kingston remained the control or abstaining city while the Newburgh water supply was fluoridated. A state health department report on the experiment said it showed favorable effects on dental health in Newburgh.

The town of Esopus last year showed interest in fluoridation, but definite action there has also been deferred. A county health official said no other applications have been made, to date, for fluoridation.

Plastic Lenses Are Used by Surgeons In Cataract Cases

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
(AP Science Reporter)

Chicago, Sept. 4 (AP)—Little plastic lenses are being put into human eyes, replacing eye lenses lost through cataracts.

Dr. Harold Ridley of London, Eng., reported this new step today to the International College of Surgeons.

Cataracts are a cloudiness over the eye lens. They reduce vision, or blind.

The eye specialist takes out the clouded lens, and substitutes a little disc of a clear, pure plastic.

The lightweight plastic almost floats in the eye, and the patient doesn't feel it there. It is held in place by the iris, which is a muscle, and a membrane in back of the normal lens. The plastic lens does the same job.

No Distorted Vision

There is no distortion in vision, and no need for thick cataract spectacles that magnify highly, Dr. Ridley said. The patient can move his eyes to see things at his side. He can see through the plastic lens as soon as the bandages are removed.

In three years, Dr. Ridley has done 65 of the lens substitutions, and other doctors elsewhere have done some.

Describing 47 of his patients, Dr. Ridley said 13 have normal vision, and 26 others nearly normal vision. Vision is under par in the other eight. Three persons have plastic lenses in both eyes.

Plastic tubes can sometimes substitute for part of the human esophagus or gullet damaged by cancer or other disease, said Dr. Edgar F. Berman of Mt. Sinai Hospital, Baltimore.

Strips of tubing four to nine inches long have bridged sections of diseased gullets removed in operations on 30 persons in the last two years, he said. The plastic tube may remain in permanently, or be removed after being surrounded by growth of a fibrous sheath.

U. S. Jets Down 12 Communist MIGs

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 4 (AP)—The U. S. Fifth Air Force said U. S. Sabre jet pilots today rolled up a near record score for one day against Communist MIG jets—12 destroyed and three crippled.

The best single day performance by the fast Sabres was last July 4, when they destroyed 13 Russian-built jets, damaged seven and probably destroyed one.

A big force of Sabres swept across North Korea and destroyed the MIGs in a series of blazing dogfights. They flew cover for swarms of fighter bombers which struck Communist frontline positions. Allied losses, if any, will be reported in a weekly summary.

Two Men Taken To Hospital After 9-Story Episode

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Two young men who said they were veterans of Korean fighting were taken to Bellevue Hospital psychopathic ward early today after patrolmen and a night watchman coaxed them to withdraw from a plank nine stories up among the steel structure of what will be the John J. Raskob wing of St. Vincent's Hospital.

Authorities said the two men climbed down after patrol cars and three emergency squads arrived at the hospital, attracting a few hundred spectators as they prepared nets and other gear.

It took about 15 minutes to dislodge the visitors, who said they were iron workers and identified as Thomas F. Gilvey, 24, of the Bronx, and Robert McLaughlin, 21, of Bellerose, according to the police.

Police said that Charles Christian, special watchman at the hospital project, spotted the men and climbed after them as they ascended ladders to a plank resting on two girders at the ninth floor level.

Christian said the men called out "We want work—we're veterans," according to the police, and the watchman expressed sympathy, advising them he, too, was a veteran and that he would try to get them jobs. Reinforced by two ladder-climbing patrolmen, Christian was able to coach the men down.

Greenwich Man Is Viewed as Favorite

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 4 (AP)—Prestcott Bush of Greenwich seemed the topheavy favorite as Connecticut Republicans prepared for tonight's opening of a special nominating convention where they are to pick their candidate for the U. S. Senate seat made vacant by the death of Sen. Brien McMahon (D.).

Although there are three other aspirants, Bush is said to have the unofficial blessing of both Gov. John Lodge and State Chairman Clarence F. Baldwin.

Choice on Friday

But whether it will be Bush, a member of the New York firm of Brown Brothers, Harriman, investment bankers, or one of the other aspirants will not be known until tomorrow when the delegates get down to the business of making a choice.

Tonight's session will be given over to preliminary convention business and to the keynote address of U. S. Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, the GOP vice presidential candidate.

Nixon came here by air early today from Maine where he has been campaigning for several days.

Opposing Bush

Actively opposing Bush, who has made no direct effort to obtain the nomination, are former U. S. Rep. Clare Boothe Luce, who represented Connecticut's Fourth District for two terms; former State Chairman J. Kenneth Bradley of Westport, and Vivien Kellems, peppery Stonington industrialist and income tax foe.

Mrs. Luce has been actively seeking the nomination for two weeks, expressing doubts that Bush was the "sure thing" candidate, and asserting that "I have a lot more delegate strength than the Bush people think I have."

Seek McMahon Term

Bush, Mrs. Luce and Bradley are seeking to fill the unexpired four years term left vacant by the death of Sen. McMahon. Temporarily seated is William A. Purtell of West Hartford, who this week was given the interim appointment by Lodge.

Purtell, who is opposing Senator William Benton (D.) for a full six-year term, is scheduled to address tomorrow's session of the convention, speaking just before the candidate's acceptance speech. He was chosen to oppose Benton at the party's regular convention last spring.

Honor Medals Given to Kinfolk Of Three Marines

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP)—Medals of Honor for three Marines who died in Korea were presented to their kin at ceremonies in the Pentagon today.

Secretary of the Navy Dan Kimball made the awards.

The three winning the nation's highest military decoration were:

Corp. Charles G. Abrell, 19, of Terre Haute, Ind.

Sgt. James I. Poynter, 33 of Downey, Calif.

Sgt. Frederick W. Mausert, 3rd, of Dresher, Penn., and Baltimore, Md.

Abrell was cited for heroism when he hurled himself into an enemy bunker with a live hand grenade, June 10, 1951. He killed the enemy gun crew, in losing his own life.

Poynter won the medal Nov. 4, 1950. He was cited for his charge against three enemy machine gun nests in which he killed the crews of two and put the third out of action before he was mortally wounded.

Mausert won the award in Sept., 1951. He assaulted enemy positions and although severely wounded continued to lead his squad against enemy bunkers until he received fatal wounds.

SparkmanDeclares Ike Gives Out GOP Platform by Bits

Long Beach, Calif., Sept. 4 (AP)—Sen. John J. Sparkman, heading east today after an intensive campaign tour in California, told Long Beach Democrats yesterday that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is "giving away the Republican platform at the rate of one issue a day."

The Democratic nominee for vice president said Eisenhower is now plugging for better social security than exists under the Democratic administration. Sparkman added that, however, two years ago in Houston, Texas, Eisenhower compared social security to enslavement.

Speaking at a luncheon of Democrats the Alabama senator referred to the appearance of the Republican presidential nominee in Atlanta, Ga., Tuesday. Sparkman said he "doubted there were 1,000 votes" for the GOP ticket among the some 100,000 citizens who turned out for the Eisenhower appearance.

"We don't get to see many five-star generals down south," said Sparkman. "In fact, we don't get to see many Republicans."

At a press conference Sparkman said he stans "exactly with Stevenson (his running mate) on civil rights matters." "That is," he said, "that it is the responsibility of all levels of government to protect the basic rights of all citizens."

Sparkman left last night for Albuquerque, N. M., he is scheduled to deliver a major speech in Santa Fe, N. M., tonight.

Fire, Explosion Hits Production of 'Copters for Korea

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 4 (AP)—Helicopter production for the Korean war theatre will be "materially hurt" by the fire and explosion which injured 10 persons at Bell Aircraft Corporation's plant here yesterday, company officials said today.

The warehouse blaze, which touched off a thunderous blast after water was sprayed on burning magnesium, damaged or destroyed an undetermined number of complicated, hand-tooled gears and castings in storage there, a spokesman explained.

They are irreplaceable immediately, and will slow down the company turnout of helicopters, a majority of which have been going to Korea.

The injured, none of whom was hurt seriously, were members of the Saginaw volunteer fire department and Bell employes at the plant. Three were hospitalized.

Plastic Lenses Are Used by Surgeons In Cataract Cases

(AP Science Reporter)

Chicago, Sept. 4 (AP)—Little plastic lenses are being put into human eyes, replacing eye lenses lost through cataracts.

Dr. Harold Ridley of London, Eng., reported this new step today to the International College of Surgeons.

Cataracts are a cloudiness over the eye lens. They reduce vision, or blind.

The eye specialist takes out the clouded lens, and substitutes a little disc of a clear, pure plastic.

The lightweight plastic almost floats in the eye, and the patient doesn't feel it there. It is held in place by the iris, which is a muscle, and a membrane in back of the normal lens. The plastic lens does the same job.

No Distorted Vision

There is no distortion in vision, and no need for thick cataract spectacles that magnify highly, Dr. Ridley said. The patient can move his eyes to see things at his side. He can see through the plastic lens as soon as the bandages are removed.

In three years, Dr. Ridley has done 65 of the lens substitutions, and other doctors elsewhere have done some.

Describing 47 of his patients, Dr. Ridley said 13 have normal vision, and 26 others nearly normal vision. Vision is under par in the other eight. Three persons have plastic lenses in both eyes.

Plastic tubes can sometimes substitute for part of the human esophagus or gullet damaged by cancer or other disease, said Dr. Edgar F. Berman of Mt. Sinai Hospital, Baltimore.

Strips of tubing four to nine inches long have bridged sections of diseased gullets removed in operations on 30 persons in the last two years, he said. The plastic tube may remain in permanently, or be removed after being surrounded by growth of a fibrous sheath.

U. S. Jets Down 12 Communist MIGs

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 4 (AP)—The U. S. Fifth Air Force said U. S. Sabre jet pilots today rolled up a near record score for one day against Communist MIG jets—12 destroyed and three crippled.

The best single day performance by the fast Sabres was last July 4, when they destroyed 13 Russian-built jets, damaged seven and probably destroyed one.

A big force of Sabres swept across North Korea and destroyed the MIGs in a series of blazing dogfights. They flew cover for swarms of fighter bombers which struck Communist frontline positions. Allied losses, if any, will be reported in a weekly summary.

Two Men Taken To Hospital After 9-Story Episode

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Two young men who said they were veterans of Korean fighting were taken to Bellevue Hospital psychopathic ward early today after patrolmen and a night watchman coaxed them to withdraw from a plank nine stories up among the steel structure of what will be the John J. Raskob wing of St. Vincent's Hospital.

Authorities said the two men climbed down after patrol cars and three emergency squads arrived at the hospital, attracting a few hundred spectators as they prepared nets and other gear.

It took about 15 minutes to dislodge the visitors, who said they were iron workers and identified as Thomas F. Gilvey, 24, of the Bronx, and Robert McLaughlin, 21, of Bellerose, according to the police.

Police said that Charles Christian, special watchman at the hospital project, spotted the men and climbed after them as they ascended ladders to a plank resting on two girders at the ninth floor level.

Christian said the men called out "We want work—we're veterans," according to the police, and the watchman expressed sympathy, advising them he, too, was a veteran and that he would try to get them jobs. Reinforced by two ladder-climbing patrolmen, Christian was able to coach the men down.

Greenwich Man Is Viewed as Favorite

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 4 (AP)—Prescott Bush of Greenwich seemed the topheavy favorite as Connecticut Republicans prepared for tonight's opening of a special nominating convention where they are to pick their candidate for the U. S. Senate seat made vacant by the death of Sen. Brien McMahon (D.).

Although there are three other aspirants, Bush is said to have the unofficial blessing of both Gov. John Lodge and State Chairman Clarence F. Baldwin.

Choice on Friday

But whether it will be Bush, a member of the New York firm of Brown Brothers, Harriman, investment bankers, or one of the other aspirants will not be known until tomorrow when the delegates get down to the business of making a choice.

Tonight's session will be given over to preliminary convention business and to the keynote address of U. S. Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, the GOP vice presidential candidate.

Nixon came here by air early today from Maine where he has been campaigning for several days.

Opposing Bush

Actively opposing Bush, who has made no direct effort to obtain the nomination, are former U. S. Rep. Clare Boothe Luce, who represented Connecticut's Fourth District for two terms; former State Chairman J. Kenneth Bradley of Westport, and Vivien Kellems, peppery Stonington industrialist and income tax foe.

Mrs. Luce has been actively seeking the nomination for two weeks, expressing doubts that Bush was the "sure thing" candidate, and asserting that "I have a lot more delegate strength than the Bush people think I have."

Seek McMahon Term

Bush, Mrs. Luce and Bradley are seeking to fill the unexpired four years term left vacant by the death of Sen. McMahon. Temporarily seated is William A. Purtell of West Hartford, who this week was given the interim appointment by Lodge.

Purtell, who is opposing Senator William Benton (D.) for a full six-year term, is scheduled to address tomorrow's session of the convention, speaking just before the candidate's acceptance speech. He was chosen to oppose Benton at the party's regular convention last spring.

Honor Medals Given to Kinfolk Of Three Marines

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP)—Medals of Honor for three Marines who died in Korea were presented to their kin at ceremonies in the Pentagon today.

Secretary of the Navy Dan Kimball made the awards.

The three winning the nation's highest military decoration were:

Corp. Charles G. Abrell, 19, of Terre Haute, Ind.

Sgt. James I. Poynter, 33 of Downey, Calif.

Sgt. Frederick W. Mausert, 3rd, of Dresher, Penn., and Baltimore, Md.

Abrell was cited for heroism when he hurled himself into an enemy bunker with a live hand grenade, June 10, 1951. He killed the enemy gun crew, in losing his own life.

Poynter won the medal Nov. 4, 1950. He was cited for his charge against three enemy machine gun nests in which he killed the crews of two and put the third out of action before he was mortally wounded.

Mausert won the award in Sept., 1951. He assaulted enemy positions and although severely wounded continued to lead his squad against enemy bunkers until he received fatal wounds.

SparkmanDeclares Ike Gives Out GOP Platform by Bits

Long Beach, Calif., Sept. 4 (AP)—Sen. John J. Sparkman, heading east today after an intensive campaign tour in California, told Long Beach Democrats yesterday that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is "giving away the Republican platform at the rate of one issue a day."

The Democratic nominee for vice president said Eisenhower is now plugging for better social security than exists under the Democratic administration. Sparkman added that, however, two years ago in Houston, Texas, Eisenhower compared social security to enslavement.

Speaking at a luncheon of Democrats the Alabama senator referred to the appearance of the Republican presidential nominee in Atlanta, Ga., Tuesday. Sparkman said he "doubted there were 1,000 votes" for the GOP ticket among the some 100,000 citizens who turned out for the Eisenhower appearance.

"We don't get to see many five-star generals down south," said Sparkman, "In fact, we don't get to see many Republicans."

At a press conference Sparkman said he stans "exactly with Stevenson (his running mate) on civil rights matters." "That is," he said, "that it is the responsibility of all levels of government to protect the basic rights of all citizens."

Sparkman left last night for Albuquerque, N. M., he is scheduled to deliver a major speech in Santa Fe, N. M., tonight.

Fire, Explosion Hits Production of 'Copters for Korea

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 4 (AP)—Helicopter production for the Korean war theatre will be "materially hurt" by the fire and explosion which injured 10 persons at Bell Aircraft Corporation's plant here yesterday, company officials said today.

The warehouse blaze, which touched off a thunderous blast after water was sprayed on burning magnesium, damaged or destroyed an undetermined number of complicated, hand-tooled gears and castings in storage there, a spokesman explained.

They are irreplaceable immediately, and will slow down the company turnout of helicopters, a majority of which have been going to Korea.

The injured, none of whom was hurt seriously, were members of the Saginaw volunteer fire department and Bell employes at the plant. Three were hospitalized.

desire an armistice and that your negotiations are mere camouflage to conceal your real purpose to continue the conflict.

Will Discover Futility

"If this suspicion ultimately proves to be true," Harrison added, "the world will have discovered once and again and beyond any doubt the futility of attempting to negotiate with Communists on any reasonable and honorable grounds."

Harrison charged that the unyielding Communist stand on the truce-blocking issue of prisoner exchange shows "that you are cruelly indifferent to your people or that you are mere puppets of alien Communist rulers, obedient to your masters' commands."

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Red negotiator, retorted that Harrison was attempting to sow discord between the Chinese and Korean Communists.

Return Is Demanded

The Communists demand return of 116,000 allied-held prisoners, including all 20,000 Chinese. The UN has offered to return 83,000, including 6,400 Chinese, insisting that the 87,000 other prisoners don't want to rejoin communism.

In their efforts to recover a few thousand Chinese, Harrison charged, the Communists appear "satisfied to cause the population of North Korea to suffer the gradual destruction of their economic life, in addition to hunger, disease and other results of war."

Will Seek Vote

London, Sept. 4 (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly will be asked to give the UN truce negotiators at Panmunjom a vote of confidence, informed diplomats said today.

These sources said the 16 countries with troops in Korea will sponsor a resolution in the Assembly, which opens Oct. 14 in New York, reaffirming UN support for the Korean war and for the truce talkers. The negotiators are all U. S. military men.

Although the Soviet bloc will undoubtedly vote against the resolution, its sponsors hope to get the overwhelming backing of most other members as a demonstration of UN solidarity.

Diplomats here said the resolution is expected to ask for a UN endorsement of the negotiators' refusal to return Red prisoners of war who don't want to go home.

Considered Logical

United Nations, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—A call for a UN vote of confidence in the truce negotiators was regarded here as a logical way of renewing Assembly discussion of the Korean war.

U. S. Delegate Ernest A. Gross said Monday that the U. S. would favor such a discussion this year although the U. S. opposed it last year on the grounds that such debate might interfere with the talks at Panmunjom.

school age students throughout the state.

Registration in the MJM School was 696, an increase of 23 over the 673 registration of 1951.

The total registration in the elementary schools on Wednesday was 2591, an increase of 282 over the 2309 registered in 1951.

Provisions Included

In setting up a long range school construction program some time ago the board of education took advance recognition of the present upward trend in school attendance and included in its program certain provisions to meet the emergency. This matter of increasing attendance at school for the next several years will probably be a subject for further discussion at a regular board meeting this evening when the question of approval of the recent bid for sale of No. 8 school probably will come up before the board for approval or disapproval.

No Change Reported

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP)—No change was reported today in the condition of Cordell Hull. The former secretary of state is still on the critical list at the Navy Hospital, Bethesda, Md. Hull, 80, was taken to the hospital last Friday for treatment of a coronary thrombosis.

Commonplace are sights like that above—a woman lying in the street, dying of starvation, in the Uttar Pradesh Gorakhpur district. This is one of 11 districts in the famine area where crop failures have caused widespread misery and uncounted deaths.

Will Discover Futility

"If this suspicion ultimately proves to be true," Harrison added, "the world will have discovered once and again and beyond any doubt the futility of attempting to negotiate with Communists on any reasonable and honorable grounds."

Harrison charged that the unyielding Communist stand on the truce-blocking issue of prisoner exchange shows "that you are cruelly indifferent to your people or that you are mere puppets of alien Communist rulers, obedient to your masters' commands."

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Red negotiator, retorted that Harrison was attempting to sow discord between the Chinese and Korean Communists.

Return Is Demanded

The Communists demand return of 116,000 allied-held prisoners, including all 20,000 Chinese. The UN has offered to return 83,000, including 6,400 Chinese, insisting that the 87,000 other prisoners don't want to rejoin communism.

In their efforts to recover a few thousand Chinese, Harrison charged, the Communists appear "satisfied to cause the population of North Korea to suffer the gradual destruction of their economic life, in addition to hunger, disease and other results of war."

Will Seek Vote

London, Sept. 4 (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly will be asked to give the UN truce negotiators at Panmunjom a vote of confidence, informed diplomats said today.

These sources said the 16 countries with troops in Korea will sponsor a resolution in the Assembly, which opens Oct. 14 in New York, reaffirming UN support for the Korean war and for the truce talkers. The negotiators are all U. S. military men.

Although the Soviet bloc will undoubtedly vote against the resolution, its sponsors hope to get the overwhelming backing of most other members as a demonstration of UN solidarity.

Diplomats here said the resolution is expected to ask for a UN endorsement of the negotiators' refusal to return Red prisoners of war who don't want to go home.

Considered Logical

United Nations, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—A call for a UN vote of confidence in the truce negotiators was regarded here as a logical way of renewing Assembly discussion of the Korean war.

U. S. Delegate Ernest A. Gross said Monday that the U. S. would favor such a discussion this year although the U. S. opposed it last year on the grounds that such debate might interfere with the talks at Panmunjom.

school age students throughout the state.

Registration in the MJM School was 696, an increase of 23 over the 673 registration of 1951.

The total registration in the elementary schools on Wednesday was 2591, an increase of 282 over the 2309 registered in 1951.

Provisions Included

In setting up a long range school construction program some time ago the board of education took advance recognition of the present upward trend in school attendance and included in its program certain provisions to meet the emergency. This matter of increasing attendance at school for the next several years will probably be a subject for further discussion at a regular board meeting this evening when the question of approval of the recent bid for sale of No. 8 school probably will come up before the board for approval or disapproval.

No Change Reported

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP)—No change was reported today in the condition of Cordell Hull. The former secretary of state is still on the critical list at the Navy Hospital, Bethesda, Md. Hull, 80, was taken to the hospital last Friday for treatment of a coronary thrombosis.

FAMINE STRIKES IN INDIA—Apparently lost among the headlines about the political campaign, the cold war and the hot war, is the news that once again famine is taking its deadly toll in India. Commonplace are sights like that above—a woman lying in the street, dying of starvation, in the Uttar Pradesh Gorakhpur district. This is one of 11 districts in the famine area where crop failures have caused widespread misery and uncounted deaths.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

Prices of top grade eggs, beef chuck roasts, some pork cuts and a handful of fresh vegetables were a little lower this week in many retail food stores.

Eggs dropped as much as 6 cents a dozen in some places as receipts of the medium and small sizes increased. Dealers said retail prices were still high in relation to recently-reduced wholesale quotations, however, and more price cutting in stores could be expected.

Otherwise, food price changes were too small and irregular to make much difference to the family food budget. Most of the reductions in meat prices were specials to attract customers, and did not reflect changing trends in the market.

Some Meat Bargains

Careful shopping promised to turn up some bargains in meats, however. A spot check in some major cities showed specials like this being offered: A reduction of 26 cents a pound on sirloin and porterhouse steak, 16 cents a pound for beef rib roasts, 10 cents a pound for frying chickens.

On the produce counters, most types of squash were lower and selling at close to break-even levels for handlers, according to Agriculture Department sources. Growers in some sections were reported dumping squash.

Sweet Potatoes Lower

The sweet potato season was getting under way in a rush and prices fell sharply. White potatoes were lower, too. Rains over the week-end kept corn huskers out of the fields in some sections and then when corn began flooding the market again prices eased. The rains lowered the quality of snap beans and cauliflower in many areas, too, undermining their prices.

Slightly higher were lima beans, cucumbers, tomatoes, eggplant, lettuce, onions and peppers.

Mushrooms Are Low

Dealers said fresh mushrooms were very low because the canners have not yet started to buy in quantity. California artichokes were beginning to show up in distant markets and were described as unusually low-priced for so early in the season.

Peaches, pears, plums and prunes were reported to be the best buys in fruits this week, along with Thompson seedless grapes which the Agriculture Department called a most-plentiful food for thrifty shoppers. Cantaloupes were a little higher in most places, honeydew melons a little lower.

These were among the foods most frequently listed as specials this week by the major chains and independent markets: Beef chuck roasts, rib roasts, pork loins and pork chops, smoked boneless butts, sirloin and porterhouse steaks, frying and stewing chickens, hams, grapes, peaches, pears, cooking apples, corn, string beans and several types of sea foods.

Canners reported that all signs pointed to tight supplies of canned tomatoes for later this year because of a short season in the important Maryland-Delaware-Virginia canning belt. The crop was shortened by too little and then too much rain, and was estimated to have totaled only about 40 per cent of normal in large areas. Distributors said there was a big demand for canned tomatoes even from Georgia and Texas which usually produce a surplus.

Builds Flying Saucers

Binghamton, N. Y. (AP)—While most people are just talking about flying saucers, Vincent Georgeff is building 'em—at least in model form. His models are disc-shaped with fins protruding from the top of the disc and landing gear on the bottom. Only he calls them flying planets. Whether there are any flying saucers at present Georgeff doesn't know but he says he believes they are possible.

Air Corps Major Speaks at Rotary

Major Richard H. Smith of the U. S. Air Corps, whose present assignment is that of acquainting college students in the states of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania with information about that branch of the service, was the speaker Wednesday at the Rotary Club luncheon.

The current expansion program of the air corps, he said, will necessitate the training of young men to become officers in the various fields of the corps. With this in mind, the major is visiting the colleges in this area, telling the students of the requirements, duties and other pertinent facts regarding the air corps.

A veteran of the Korean War, he emphasized the effectiveness of the unification of the services on that battle front and related first-hand accounts of its operations and the results obtained.

In answer to numerous questions, the major explained in detail the functions of the several types of planes now in combat action and also their capabilities. His knowledge of the enemy planes and their operations was most interesting.

A comparison of the performances of the enemy craft and the conditions under which our forces are presently engaged were given by the speaker.

High Position

Oshawa, Canada (AP) — Leslie Loucks, an employe of the public utilities commission, had the task of painting the city's 79 metal lamp posts, using a none-too-steady 20-foot ladder. He said the height didn't bother him; only the thought that he might spill on some husky pedestrian.

Builds Flying Saucers

Binghamton, N. Y. (AP)—While most people are just talking about flying saucers, Vincent Georgeff is building 'em—at least in model form. His models are disc-shaped with fins protruding from the top of the disc and landing gear on the bottom. Only he calls them flying planets. Whether there are any flying saucers at present Georgeff doesn't know but he says he believes they are possible.

Air Corps Major Speaks at Rotary

Major Richard H. Smith of the U. S. Air Corps, whose present assignment is that of acquainting college students in the states of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania with information about that branch of the service, was the speaker Wednesday at the Rotary Club luncheon.

The current expansion program of the air corps, he said, will necessitate the training of young men to become officers in the various fields of the corps. With this in mind, the major is visiting the students of the requirements, duties and other pertinent facts regarding the air corps.

A veteran of the Korean War, he emphasized the effectiveness of the unification of the services on that battle front and related first-hand accounts of its operations and the results obtained.

In answer to numerous questions, the major explained in detail the functions of the several types of planes now in combat action and also their capabilities. His knowledge of the enemy planes and their operations was most interesting.

A comparison of the performances of the enemy craft and the conditions under which our forces are presently engaged were given by the speaker.

High Position

Oshawa, Canada (AP)—Leslie Loucks, an employe of the public utilities commission, had the task of painting the city's 79 metal lamp posts, using a none-too-steady 20-foot ladder. He said the height didn't bother him; only the thought that he might spill on some husky pedestrian.

Murphy Report Given on Building

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy's building report for August showed 42 permits issued for building and alterations at a total estimated cost of $403,875.

This was far above the July total of $80,460 because of permits for the building and renovation programs of two banks.

One permit with an estimate of $15,000 was for a diner to be located on East St. James street. The application for this was Christos Stavarinou and John Peter Themistocles. The only address given was Route 9W.

The permit for renovations on the branch of the Kingston Trust Company on central Broadway showed an estimated cost of $200,000 and that for Rondout National Bank on the former Byrne Brothers monument works property at $90,000.

Another $4,100 was for alterations and repairs on non residential structures bringing the August total for that purpose to $294,100 for which eight permits were issued for alterations and repairs on residential structures at an estimated cost of $3,400.

The chief issued nine permits at an estimated cost of $79,900 for new dwellings, and nine for private garages at $5,650.

Man, 79, Sought In Vermont Woods

Brookfield, Vt., Sept. 4 (AP)—State police and volunteers searched woods yesterday for a retired 79-year-old man who gave his wife a farewell kiss Tuesday and said he would not be back.

Mrs. Henry Smith said her husband, formerly of Rockville Centre, N. Y., had become increasingly despondent since their son Frederick returned to army duty at Camp Kilmer, N. J., Monday.

State police organized between 50 and 75 volunteers to search the partially wooded area around Brookfield.

Mrs. Smith said her husband was in good health. She said he was wearing a brown hat, a blue short-sleeved sport shirt and khaki trousers when he left their farm.

The couple have two other sons, Justin, working with Pan-American World Airways in Houston, Tex., and Howard, of Orlando, Fla.

Will Send Mission

Tokyo, Sept. 4 (AP)—The Japanese government will send a surrender mission to the Philippines to urge three Imperial Japanese Army holdouts to call off the war on Lubang Island. For seven years, the trio have resisted all inducements to surrender. Kydo News Service said the new attempt will be a major peace offensive. The surrender mission will distribute leaflets, newspapers, letters and photographs from families of the three. They also will play tape recordings from the families telling the holdouts the war is over—come home. Other Japanese Army holdouts are reported in back sections of Guam and other Pacific islands.

Nevada, sixth largest state in the Union, has the smallest population.

Pulls Political Upset

Thomas W. Mechling receives congratulatory kiss from his wife in Reno, Nev., as returns in the Nevada primary election gave him a narrow lead in the Democratic senatorial race. With 90 per cent of the vote counted, Mechling was leading former state Attorney General Alan Bible, who was backed by Sen. Pat McCarran, in one of the biggest political upsets in Nevada history. Grand Jurors Are To Meet Monday

A busy session is scheduled for the monthly meeting of the Association of Grand Jurors of Ulster County Monday at 8 p. m. in the court house on Wall street, according to President Thomas J. Murphy, president.

The legislative committee will hold a special meeting and other items are on the regular agenda, such as discussion of plans for the testimonial dinner and banquet to take place during October.

Final plans will be completed for the association's visit to Napanoch Institution for Male Defective Delinquents on invitation from Superintendent Thomas J. Hanlon.

The visit has been arranged for Wednesday, Sept. 17, at 1:15 p. m. Grand Jurors and their friends will make a tour of the shops and buildings, witness a full dress parade by the inmates and attend a band concert.

President Murphy urges a large delegation for the visit. Grand Jurors without transportation may get rides by phoning 4771-W or 5939-J for information.

Abel Says Trust Was 'Misplaced'

Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—Nassau County District Attorney Frank A. Gulotta says bank president William H. Abel told him he was a victim of "misplaced trust" in Mrs. Lillian B. Robinson, business executive accused of swindling the bank out of $450,000.

Gulotta had an hour-long interview yesterday with Abel. It was his first talk with the banker since the latter critically wounded himself with a revolver last Friday.

The district attorney quoted the 47-year-old Abel as saying he shot himself because he was "so upset and disturbed." Abel promised to "cooperate fully" in the case, Gulotta said.

Mrs. Robinson is charged with forging loan applications to the Central National Bank of Mineola over a four-year span. She is in Nassau County Jail in lieu of $40,000 bail.

Abel, who had known Mrs. Robinson for years, was a director of one of her home products companies until last month, when he resigned his directorship and lodged the complaint against the woman.

Questioning of other bank officials will continue today Gulotta said, adding that it will be two weeks before the auditors finish checking the books of the institution.

Up until yesterday, Abel's condition had been too critical to permit Gulotta to question him.

Caution—School Street

With the opening of school this month, a well-known character reappears on the American scene. He is a small, sturdy boy wearing a white armband and Sam Browne belt who fills the honorable post of traffic monitor or junior policeman for his school. Many a motorist watching him as he holds back a restless crowd of youngsters at the curb smiles with amusement and says "isn't he cute?"

As long as the motorist watches the young man's actions carefully and obeys his signals, there's no harm in thinking he's cute. He is an important factor in preserving the lives of our children who are trooping back to school these days. Along with his appearance on the scene, bright yellow signs blossom out; caution, stop signs, and speed limits that mean what they say. And, of course, at the crossing in front of the school there is the policeman who is every child's friend and protector.

Yet with all these efforts to guard the safety of our children, hundreds will be killed or permanently injured in traffic accidents during this school year. And statistics show that most accidents to young children are the result of adult carelessness. This disgrace to America can be wiped out. Every adult can do something about it.

If you have school age children, reinforce the school's safety teachings with teaching of your own. Know that your child understands the dangers of traffic before he starts out that first day of school. Know that he stops and looks at every crossing, however quiet, between your home and the school or the place where he is picked up by the school bus. If you are not perfectly confident, go with him yourself or put him in the care of a responsible older child. Know that he obeys the instructions of the traffijc monitors as well as those of the "real" policeman.

Don't allow older children to drive or ride in unsafe "jalopies." If your youngsters ride bicycles, be sure they know and follow the rules of the road.

If you drive a car, be doubly careful near schools or wherever children play. Don't just slow down at a stop sign and take a quick look. Stop and look carefully. Watch for school monitors and school crossing policemen and obey their instructions. Stop dead when a school bus is stopped. Have your brakes, tires, and lights checked regularly. Check windshield wipers and defroster. Avoid skidding by having good tire treads and by keeping speed low. Use chains.

If you carry children to and from school in your car, don't overcrowd the car. Insist on orderly behavior by the children in the car. A safety device should be installed on car doors to keep children from falling from the moving car.

By following these rules, you will help to cut down the tragic toll of the leading cause of death and disability among children.

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Charles E. Wilson will spearhead the drive for funds—Nov. 11 to Dec. 15—to support Radio Free Europe and Radio Free Asia. Privately sponsored, both radio stations penetrate the Soviet "Iron Curtain" to counteract Communist propaganda.

Explosives Under School

Chiba City, Japan (AP)—School was dismissed recently in Chiba City while workers dug up a half-forgotten store of munitions buried under the high school. After the war the old Imperial army anti-aircraft school had been converted into a high school. Then someone remembered that live shells, explosives and about 200 big bombs were buried under the anti-aircraft school in the closing days of the war. The explosives were found all right—and all very much alive.

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri announced today that he has asked Gov. Thomas E. THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

One of the interesting things about this election year is the interest women are taking in the campaigns.

Perhaps you might like to be posted on a meeting which took place in Chicago on August 7 and 8, which was sponsored by the Minute Women of Maryland. I think the idea of women's groups was first initiated by Miss Vivien Kellems of Connecticut — whom you will recall as the brave little lady who battled against the mandatory imposition of the withholding tax and since has become nationally known for her forthrightness in standing up wholeheartedly for the American free enterprise system. Miss Kellems launched the Liberty Belles, Inc., with headquarters in New York City. She is now campaigning actively in Connecticut.

There are several state organizations of "Minute Women" now and a national organization called The Minute Women of the United States of America, Inc. I am giving you this background because there has not been much press notoriety as yet and you may hear a good deal more about these groups in the future.

The Ruminator was asked among several hundred others to attend the Chicago meeting, but he was unable to attend. However, a friend "covered" part of the proceedings for me.

At the opening of this informal "convention" there was immediate agitation for the formation of a third party, because those attending were disappointed and dissatisfied with the platform of both the Republican and Democratic parties. However, upon the calm recommendations of Congressmen Howard Buffet of Nebraska and Ralph Gwinn of New York, no attempt was finally made to place a third ticket before the electorate in November. This indeed seems to have been wise and prudent because certainly little good would have been accomplished in so short a time and harm might have resulted. There was talk, I'm told, of a ticket headed by General MacArthur with Senator Byrd as a vice-presidential nominee. Both men refused to have their names considered.

I gather that there was a good deal of hot-headed talk when the meeting opened, but later parliamentary order was restored, under the able chairmanship of George M. Robnetts, a widely known lecturer who has appeared before many Chapters of the Minute Women in various states. He was assisted on the podium by George S. Montgomery, Jr., a conservative lawyer of New York who is author of a little book, "The Return of Adam Smith", which was commented upon in these columns sometime ago.

Mr. Robnetts, chairman, gave my friend who attended for me this statement: "I will only offer one or two observations in regard to this situation," he said; "the widespread disappointment in the national conventions outcome. As I have felt the pulse of the people I am convinced that unless a certain segment of Republican sentiment can be revitalized there is very apt to be a mortality of interest that would almost certainly spell defeat by default for the Republican party and the election of another New Deal regime. It shall not be the purpose of the chairman of this convention to state any other premise or conviction."

The upshot of the two-day meeting was two-fold: First, to stimulate interest in working for the election of conservative candidates for both the Senate and the House in November, and second, to form a third party, called The Constitution Party, which will be activated later in the hope of becoming a force in combating the encroachment of state-socialism. While there were, of course, a few hot-heads at the meeting, the majority were intent upon becoming active in "good constitutional politics." Mrs. William F. Hayes, chairman of the Chicago Chapter of the Minute Women of the United States, made this statement to be sent to me: "It is a national crusade of women to encourage intelligent voting on issues and candidates. It is a bi-partisan group. This convention is a meeting to consolidate the ideas of these different groups."

There has been very little press reaction to this Chicago meeting, and perhaps that is to the good. Usually, when meetings of this kind commence with a big fanfare and blatant publicity the organization is likely to get off to a false start.

From the reports I have received thus far I should guess the Constitution Party may be serious in intent and not solely concerned with rocking the boat. As a "competitor" to some of the left-wing groups which have sprung up it may prove to be a welcome newcomer in politics, particularly because of the feminine sponsorship.

Balloon Test a Bust

The world's largest unmanned balloon is inflated at New Brighton, Minn., before beginning its ascent. When the balloon was ripped during inflation, Navy officials decided to send it up anyhow, without the scientific instruments it had been designed to carry with it. The test was judged a failure when the balloon landed a few hours later in southeastern Minnesota after failing to reach the height that its builders predicted it would. (NEA Telephoto).

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

One of the interesting things about this election year is the interest women are taking in the campaigns.

Perhaps you might like to be posted on a meeting which took place in Chicago on August 7 and 8, which was sponsored by the Minute Women of Maryland. I think the idea of women's groups was first initiated by Miss Vivien Kellems of Connecticut — whom you will recall as the brave little lady who battled against the mandatory imposition of the withholding tax and since has become nationally known for her forthrightness in standing up wholeheartedly for the American free enterprise system. Miss Kellems launched the Liberty Belles, Inc., with headquarters in New York City. She is now campaigning actively in Connecticut.

There are several state organizations of "Minute Women" now and a national organization called The Minute Women of the United States of America, Inc. I am giving you this background because there has not been much press notoriety as yet and you may hear a good deal more about these groups in the future.

The Ruminator was asked among several hundred others to attend the Chicago meeting, but he was unable to attend. However, a friend "covered" part of the proceedings for me.

At the opening of this informal "convention" there was immediate agitation for the formation of a third party, because those attending were disappointed and dissatisfied with the platform of both the Republican and Democratic parties. However, upon the calm recommendations of Congressmen Howard Buffet of Nebraska and Ralph Gwinn of New York, no attempt was finally made to place a third ticket before the electorate in November. This indeed seems to have been wise and prudent because certainly little good would have been accomplished in so short a time and harm might have resulted. There was talk, I'm told, of a ticket headed by General MacArthur with Senator Byrd as a vice-presidential nominee. Both men refused to have their names considered.

I gather that there was a good deal of hot-headed talk when the meeting opened, but later parliamentary order was restored, under the able chairmanship of George M. Robnetts, a widely known lecturer who has appeared before many Chapters of the Minute Women in various states. He was assisted on the podium by George S. Montgomery, Jr., a conservative lawyer of New York who is author of a little book, "The Return of Adam Smith", which was commented upon in these columns sometime ago.

Mr. Robnetts, chairman, gave my friend who attended for me this statement: "I will only offer one or two observations in regard to this situation," he said; "the widespread disappointment in the national conventions outcome. As I have felt the pulse of the people I am convinced that unless a certain segment of Republican sentiment can be revitalized there is very apt to be a mortality of interest that would almost certainly spell defeat by default for the Republican party and the election of another New Deal regime. It shall not be the purpose of the chairman of this convention to state any other premise or conviction."

The upshot of the two-day meeting was two-fold: First, to stimulate interest in working for the election of conservative candidates for both the Senate and the House in November, and second, to form a third party, called The Constitution Party, which will be activated later in the hope of becoming a force in combating the encroachment of state-socialism. While there were, of course, a few hot-heads at the meeting, the majority were intent upon becoming active in "good constitutional politics." Mrs. William F. Hayes, chairman of the Chicago Chapter of the Minute Women of the United States, made this statement to be sent to me: "It is a national crusade of women to encourage intelligent voting on issues and candidates. It is a bi-partisan group. This convention is a meeting to consolidate the ideas of these different groups."

There has been very little press reaction to this Chicago meeting, and perhaps that is to the good. Usually, when meetings of this kind commence with a big fanfare and blatant publicity the organization is likely to get off to a false start.

From the reports I have received thus far I should guess the Constitution Party may be serious in intent and not solely concerned with rocking the boat. As a "competitor" to some of the left-wing groups which have sprung up it may prove to be a welcome newcomer in politics, particularly because of the feminine sponsorship.

Balloon Test a Bust

The world's largest unmanned balloon is inflated at New Brighton, Minn., before beginning its ascent. When the balloon was ripped during inflation, Navy officials decided to send it up anyhow, without the scientific instruments it had been designed to carry with it. The test was judged a failure when the balloon landed a few hours later in southeastern Minnesota after failing to reach the height that its builders predicted it would. (NEA Telephoto).

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD S. THIBAUT, Jr.

Theatre Owners Hope for Success In Future Seasons

Woodstock, Sept. 4—The Woodstock Playhouse was the subject last week of a feature article by Vernon Rice in the drama and amusement section of the New York Post. The piece, titled "Woodstock Managers Still There," places the Woodstock theatre in the category of summer "Jonah houses." "They are," Rice wrote, "the ones year after year, which meet with failure. . . . Always the new producers go in with high hopes. They have figured out the success formula to make the theatres pay off. It is generally just a matter of time, however, before they have met the same fate as their predecessors."

Rice reported that the Woodstock Playhouse is "such a house. Even Margaret Webster went down in defeat. One of two managing directors broke even at the end of their seasons and considered himself lucky to have done so."

Location a Factor

One of the deceiving factors about the Playhouse, Rice believes, is its location. "Placed in the center of one of the most important art and cultural summer colonies, the novice producer is likely to think that the summer residents will be ardent and constant attenders at such a cultural force as the theatre.

"He learns too late that the artist is too busy painting and trying to sell his creations to think about the theatre but only occasionally. The writer has to write and the connoisseur spends most of his time at connoisseuring.

Awakening Too Late

"The best Woodstock can do is to provide the weekend audiences, when the toilers at art take time off to play and the weekend visitors seek recreation. A mad scramble usually is made to court the citizens of the surrounding communities, but by the time the awakening comes, the season is too far gone."

Rice stated that when it was announced that two lawyers, Abe Sainer and William Weisman, had bought the Woodstock Playhouse, "I neatly folded my arms across my ever-expanding stomach, smugly waiting to watch the repetition of events.

"I postponed any meeting with them until the end of the season so that I could compare their stories with those of the others who had gone down nobly fighting."

Have No Illusions

After an interview with Sainer and Weisman, Rice records "No scars. No broken spirits. The two men are still on top. They had no illusions, it seems, when they took over the project. They expect to lose money for two years.

"This year they haven't been disappointed. They claim, though that they have managed to build business from week to week. Next year they hope to break even by the end of their 10-week season.

Rice described the type of plays which have been presented at the Playhouse this past season, and concluded with the statement that the new owners "believe above all else, that only long-range planning, aided by ample financing, pays off in Summer Theatre."

Manierre Attends Edson Family Reunion

Woodstock, Sept. 4—Harold Lee Manierre recently attended a reunion of the Edson Family Association at the War Memorial Park in West Bridgewater, Mass. A feature of the occasion was an historic ceremony when the plaque commemorating Deacon Samuel Edson was unveiled by one of his descendants, Mrs. Julie (Edson) Manierre Mann, of LaJolla Calif., who conceived the idea of its necessity when she visited the park several years ago.

Deacon Samuel Edson is not only the ancestor of Harold Manierre, but of Lewis Edson, of Shady, an important early American composer who spent his last years in Shady. He died in Mink Hollow in 1820. Recently a group of his hymns were sung at the Shady Methodist Church, conducted by Sidney Robertson Cowell who arranged the program.

Deacon Edson was one of the proprietors of the town of Bridgewater, and in 1654 was apportioned about 22 acres of land. His house is still standing and the present War Memorial Park is located on the site of his two saw mills portion of which have been preserved along with bridges, spillway and mill stones.

Inquiry Is Opened

Marseille, France, Sept. 4 (AP)—Police opened an official inquiry today into an explosion which wrecked a soap factory a mile from the center of this major French port last night, killing nine persons and wounding more than a score. Firemen feared other bodies still may be in the wreckage. Preliminary investigation indicated a short-circuit or an accidental spark had touched off the blast, but officials still were not sure of the origin.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD S. THIBAUT, Jr.

Theatre Owners Hope for Success In Future Seasons

Woodstock, Sept. 4—The Woodstock Playhouse was the subject last week of a feature article by Vernon Rice in the drama and amusement section of the New York Post. The piece, titled "Woodstock Managers Still There," places the Woodstock theatre in the category of summer "Jonah houses." "They are," Rice wrote, "the ones year after year, which meet with failure. . . . Always the new producers go in with high hopes. They have figured out the success formula to make the theatres pay off. It is generally just a matter of time, however, before they have met the same fate as their predecessors."

Rice reported that the Woodstock Playhouse is "such a house. Even Margaret Webster went down in defeat. One of two managing directors broke even at the end of their seasons and considered himself lucky to have done so."

Location a Factor

One of the deceiving factors about the Playhouse, Rice believes, is its location. "Placed in the center of one of the most important art and cultural summer colonies, the novice producer is likely to think that the summer residents will be ardent and constant attenders at such a cultural force as the theatre.

"He learns too late that the artist is too busy painting and trying to sell his creations to think about the theatre but only occasionally. The writer has to write and the connoisseur spends most of his time at connoisseuring.

Awakening Too Late

"The best Woodstock can do is to provide the weekend audiences, when the toilers at art take time off to play and the weekend visitors seek recreation. A mad scramble usually is made to court the citizens of the surrounding communities, but by the time the awakening comes, the season is too far gone."

Rice stated that when it was announced that two lawyers, Abe Sainer and William Weisman, had bought the Woodstock Playhouse, "I neatly folded my arms across my ever-expanding stomach, smugly waiting to watch the repetition of events.

"I postponed any meeting with them until the end of the season so that I could compare their stories with those of the others who had gone down nobly fighting."

Have No Illusions

After an interview with Sainer and Weisman, Rice records "No scars. No broken spirits. The two men are still on top. They had no illusions, it seems, when they took over the project. They expect to lose money for two years.

"This year they haven't been disappointed. They claim, though that they have managed to build business from week to week. Next year they hope to break even by the end of their 10-week season.

Rice described the type of plays which have been presented at the Playhouse this past season, and concluded with the statement that the new owners "believe above all else, that only long-range planning, aided by ample financing, pays off in Summer Theatre."

Manierre Attends Edson Family Reunion

Woodstock, Sept. 4—Harold Lee Manierre recently attended a reunion of the Edson Family Association at the War Memorial Park in West Bridgewater, Mass. A feature of the occasion was an historic ceremony when the plaque commemorating Deacon Samuel Edson was unveiled by one of his descendants, Mrs. Julie (Edson) Manierre Mann, of LaJolla Calif., who conceived the idea of its necessity when she visited the park several years ago.

Deacon Samuel Edson is not only the ancestor of Harold Manierre, but of Lewis Edson, of Shady, an important early American composer who spent his last years in Shady. He died in Mink Hollow in 1820. Recently a group of his hymns were sung at the Shady Methodist Church, conducted by Sidney Robertson Cowell who arranged the program.

Deacon Edson was one of the proprietors of the town of Bridgewater, and in 1654 was apportioned about 22 acres of land. His house is still standing and the present War Memorial Park is located on the site of his two saw mills portion of which have been preserved along with bridges, spillway and mill stones.

Inquiry Is Opened

Marseille, France, Sept. 4 (AP)—Police opened an official inquiry today into an explosion which wrecked a soap factory a mile from the center of this major French port last night, killing nine persons and wounding more than a score. Firemen feared other bodies still may be in the wreckage. Preliminary investigation indicated a short-circuit or an accidental spark had touched off the blast, but officials still were not sure of the origin.

The average female lives about 4½ years longer than the average male.

ernment service with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in 1933. He was put in there as "special counsel" which was one of a number of resounding but empty titles used in those days to dignify the occupations of a whole school of futile, pestiferous young lawyers, college teachers and crew-cut study-bums, fugitives, for the most part, from the rigors of the C.C.C.

His close associates there included Pressman and Witt, and he later became a trustee of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, a typical, mysterious propaganda machine operating on parasitic money, again in association with Hiss, another trustee.

In his New York speech, Stevenson was steaming with indignation at the "smearing" of "innocent" individuals by the likes of Senator Joe McCarthy but failed to name any person who had been so smeared. The hitherto undisclosed pattern of facts in Stevenson's own background plus his remarkable reticence about his studies at a law school which, aside from the notoriety engendered by Weenie's Red prodigies, is regarded as one of the best, might suggest that Stevenson was getting in his own alibi in advance.

Furthermore, in the hearings of the Pat McCarran sub-committee on internal security, Stevenson's name bobbed up in garbled form but unmistakably nevertheless in a letter seized by committee detectives in an old barn on the farm of E. C. Carter, the general secretary of the Institute of Pacific Relations. The barn was at Lee, Mass., and the cache was a mine of information on the treachery in the State Department which resulted in the American tragedy of China.

In a letter from W. W. Lockwood, of the I.P.R., to Robert W. Barnett, in care of the I.P.R. in Washington, Lockwood suggested that "someone" from the office of Frank Knox, then secretary of the navy, be selected to attend a certain conference. Stevenson was then with Knox.

The letter said: "Coe and Hiss mentioned Adlai Stevens(on), one of Knox's special assistants."

Elizabeth Bentley declared on oath in testimony that Frank Coe was a member of the Alger Hiss Soviet espionage cell.

So, altogether, Adlai Stevenson had very close association with Alger Hiss and other Communists right down to the San Francisco conference that resulted in the United nations where Hiss reached his pinnacle as the manipulator in charge of the poor, stupid secretary of state, Ed Stettinius, who was so puzzled and helpless that he could not even object on being relieved.

Stevenson was an "advisor" to the United States delegation at San Francisco. He has been a New Deal bureaucrat of the most dangerous type intermittently ever since 1933 and was either a liar on his oath when he said he never heard that Hiss was a Communist sympathizer" or too stupid to observe the obvious.

"We in Kingston join in the national recognition of America's production genius made possible by improved machines and skilled labor.

"Under our free private enterprise system we have exercised a freedom to make things better which has earned for our country a place of world leadership.

"Under our system, production has increased. As production is the foundation of prosperity let us all join to keep our system functioning according to the principles which have made our country great."

Discourtesy on the Road

New York (AP)—At least 25,000 traffic accident fatalities result annually in the United States from acts of discourtesy on the road, says a report by the Greater New York Safety Council. Among the most frequent violations of good driving etiquette are disregard of speed limits, passing other cars on hills or curves, hogging the road, failing to dim headlights for approaching cars, and refusing to wait for pedestrians crossing the street at the moment the traffic light turns.

Discourtesy on the Road

New York (AP)—At least 25,000 traffic accident fatalities result annually in the United States from acts of discourtesy on the road, says a report by the Greater New York Safety Council. Among the most frequent violations of good driving etiquette are disregard of speed limits, passing other cars on hills or curves, hogging the road, failing to dim headlights for approaching cars, and refusing to wait for pedestrians crossing the street at the moment the traffic light turns.

New York (AP)—About 95 per cent of the state's 4,219,863 registered vehicles are insured, reports the state Motor Vehicle Bureau. The bureau also estimates that 410,000 street and highway accidents will be reported this year. A minimum of $50 property damage must be proved to put an accident on official lists. About 80 per cent of accidents are caused by speeding, reckless driving, failue to gret right-of-way and ignoring traffic signs and signals, says the bureau.

Opening lead—♠ Q

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I know that there are more optimists than pessimists, because practically everybody misplays the type of hand shown today. The good pessimist always makes the slam contract; a good optimist always comes a cropper.

West opens the queen of spades and dummy wins with the ace. The optimist lays down the ace, king, and queen of trumps in the hope of dropping the jack. In this case he has no such luck and the slam is doomed.

Our optimist does his best to recover by cashing the king of diamonds and entering dummy with a club in order to take discards on dummy's top diamonds. West promptly ruffs, however, and is then able to cash two spades to set the slam two tricks.

The pessimist does not hope to capture the jack of hearts. After winning the first trick with dummy's ace of spades, the pessimist immediately finesses the ten of hearts. When this finesse loses to the jack, our pessimist is not a bit surprised. He never expects to win a finesse!

Now, however, West cannot defeat the contract. If West tries to continue spades, dummy's remaining trump will stop the suit. And, of course, South likewise has control of the other suits. South can easily regain the lead, draw the rest of the trumps, and get his discards on dummy's diamonds.

Physicians Are Asked To Watch Outbreaks

Albany, N. Y., Sep. 4 (AP)—Physicians in New York state are being alerted to watch for possible outbreaks of an illness resembling polio, but not as serious.

The state health department said yesterday it had asked local health officers to put doctors on guard.

The department said it had received reports of small outbreaks of the disease in Jefferson and Lewis counties, Plattsburgh, Ravena, Coeymans, Albany, Troy, Port Chester, Mt. Kisco, Clinton and Lafayette. It noted that the illness frequently had occurred in areas where there had been no paralytic polio this year.

Although the disease causes many of the symptoms of polio and often is mistaken for it, the department said, it appears to run its course in two to five days, with good recovery and no after effects.

A department spokesman said the identity of the disease was not known.

I know that there are more optimists than pessimists, because practically everybody misplays the type of hand shown today. The good pessimist always makes the slam contract; a good optimist always comes a cropper.

West opens the queen of spades and dummy wins with the ace. The optimist lays down the ace, king, and queen of trumps in the hope of dropping the jack. In this case he has no such luck and the slam is doomed.

Our optimist does his best to recover by cashing the king of diamonds and entering dummy with a club in order to take discards on dummy's top diamonds. West promptly ruffs, however, and is then able to cash two spades to set the slam two tricks.

The pessimist does not hope to capture the jack of hearts. After winning the first trick with dummy's ace of spades, the pessimist immediately finesses the ten of hearts. When this finesse loses to the jack, our pessimist is not a bit surprised. He never expects to win a finesse!

Now, however, West cannot defeat the contract. If West tries to continue spades, dummy's remaining trump will stop the suit. And, of course, South likewise has control of the other suits. South can easily regain the lead, draw the rest of the trumps, and get his discards on dummy's diamonds.

Physicians Are Asked To Watch Outbreaks

Albany, N. Y., Sep. 4 (AP)—Physicians in New York state are being alerted to watch for possible outbreaks of an illness resembling polio, but not as serious.

The state health department said yesterday it had asked local health officers to put doctors on guard.

The department said it had received reports of small outbreaks of the disease in Jefferson and Lewis counties, Plattsburgh, Ravena, Coeymans, Albany, Troy, Port Chester, Mt. Kisco, Clinton and Lafayette. It noted that the illness frequently had occurred in areas where there had been no paralytic polio this year.

Although the disease causes many of the symptoms of polio and often is mistaken for it, the department said, it appears to run its course in two to five days, with good recovery and no after effects.

A department spokesman said the identity of the disease was not known.

Hard Workers Need Breakfast

AN EFFICIENT BREAKFAST for working men includes citrus juice, oatmeal with apple slices, sweet cereal bread, and milk or coffee.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Factory laborers too often cut down their efficiency by eating poor breakfasts or no breakfasts. A nation-wide survey just made by Elmo Roper shows that the poorest breakfast habits in the country are among this working group. Factory men, the survey shows, eat their breakfast more hurriedly than women. Most of them dash through breakfast at breakneck speed.

Scientists at one eastern university studied the work production records of a group of factory workers who were paid on a piece basis. Some workers were found to be much more efficient than others; their work production was much higher.

The research scientists then took a look at the meal pattern habits of the group and found that some members habitually ate no breakfast. Further study showed that these were the ones who had the low work output records.

When these workers changed from "no breakfast" to breakfast, their output increased.

Also studies conducted at a prominent medical college prove that both men and women are able to turn out more work when they have a good breakfast.

Government nutritionists say we should get about a third of the day's protein at breakfast. A fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter breakfast supplies this amount, giving protein of top quality, adequate to meet all body requirements.

Here's a good breakfast menu: A glass of blended citrus juices, oatmeal topped with cinnamon apple slices. (Make the apple slices like this: Make a syrup of ¼ cup sugar, ½cup red cinnamon drops and 1 cup water. Add thin slices of unpeeled apple and cook until tender. Serve either hot or cold), honey cereal kuchen, butter or margarine, milk, coffee.

Honey Kuchen
(Yield: 1 square kuchen)

Topping: One-half cup brown sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, ½ cup bran flakes or whole wheat flakes.

Mix together brown sugar, spices, butter and cereal flakes. Set aside for use on top of batter.

Kuchen: Three-quarters cup sifted all-purpose flour, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup milk, ¼ cup honey, 1 egg, well beaten, 3 tablespoons melted fat, 1½ cups bran flakes or whole wheat flakes.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Combine milk, honey and egg and add to flour mixture. Add fat, mixing only enough to combine. Fold in cereal flakes. Pour into greased pan 8x8x2 inches. Sprinkle topping over batter. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 minutes or until done.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Sliced peaches, oatmeal, fruited cereal bread, butter or margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: New England clam chowder, vegetable salad, French dressing, cheese bread, butter or margarine, plums, grapes and pear bowl, tea, milk.

DINNER: Tomato juice, casserole of tuna and sliced stuffed olives, steamed rice, fresh or frozen peas, enriched bread, butter or margarine, raw carrot sticks and top onions, watermelon, coffee, milk.

Moran-Spencerian Will Open Monday

Monday, September 8, new classes will be formed in both secretarial and accounting divisions of the Moran-Spencerian School of Business, in the Freeman Building, 237 Fair street. Registration for all courses is now in progress.

The Moran-Spencerian perpetuates the names of two well-known schools—the Moran School of Business and Spencer's Business School, with service records for 35 years and 60 years respectively. For three years, the school has been functioning as a single unit under the principalship of Joseph J. Morgan.

It is said that never before has there been so acute a shortage of skilled office personnel as exists today, with special reference to stenographers and secretaries. The shortage is nationwide, affecting both private busines and public service.

The urgency of the situation is pointed out in surveys and studies made by metropolitan newspapers and leading business magazines. The surveys reveal several contributing factors, chief among them being the low birth rate of the 1930's, the depression years, as a result of which there is a smaller proportion of young people in the United States than ever before. Vital statistics indicate there would be no marked increase until 1958.

The fact that brides are getting younger and younger is self-evident—a development that reduces materially the number of girls available for employment. The average age of woman workers is higher than ever. Increasing constantly is the number of employed women who are also homemakers.

The Moran-Spencerian School is well equipped to play a part in relieving the current shortage. The management of the school is hopeful that a sufficient number of young people will enroll for its fall classes to meet at least the local demand.

The school office is open daily for advance registration. There is still ample time in which to complete arrangements. The school telephone call is Kingston 178.

PART FATHER CAN PLAY IN WEDDING

A father writes: "My wife divorced me several years ago. We have two daughters who lived with me part of the time but most of the time with their mother here in the same city. Both girls just married. I arranged for and paid for rather elaborate weddings and receptions. Invitations — two hundred odd—in each case were sent out. It is about these invitations I write. Much to my surprise and to many of my friends and relatives they were worded: 'Mrs. Kelly Jones requests the honour of your presence at the marriage of her daughter.' One daughter had the engraving done before I knew about them. The other girl said she would include my name but not both mine and her mother's. Why can't this be done?"

Years ago divorce was granted only for infidelity and if the invitations were sent out by the father it cast unforgiveable opprobrium upon the mother. Therefore, the ex-husband chivalrously protected the name of the mother of his children no matter what the cause of divorce. Now, however, that divorce can be obtained for many other reasons this moral reasoning no longer holds.

In your case the ideal situation would have been for you to send invitations to your relatives and friends worded: Mr. John Jones requests . . . of his daughter. Her mother could then send invitations to her relatives and friends worded: Mrs. Kelly Jones requests . . of her daughter. Instead of one reception at three o'clock your ex-wife could enclose reception invitations for five o'clock. Your reception invitations could be for a wedding supper at six. Then your daughter leaves her mother's reception in her wedding clothes, drives to your house and greets your family and special friends and they leave from your house in their traveling clothes.

Tipping Maid

Dear Mrs. Post: When staying in the house of a friend for a week or more, is it customary to tip the maid before leaving? If so, how much would be proper?

Answer: Yes, definitely! But how much is impossible to answer because it depends upon how much she did for you personally and still more upon your financial situation as evidenced by the luxury or simplicity of your clothes and appointments. A dollar from one whose possessions are simple would be ample. On the other hand, many expensive items that required much pressing and even some renovating would multiply the tip by five and not impossibly ten.

Who pays for the wedding expenses? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-4, "Wedding Expenses," includes a list of expenses and who should pay for them. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Women Marines are going to have their own dress blues—counterpart of the blue uniform made famous by male U. S. Marines around the world for the first time in history.

The new blues are included in six new outfits for Women Marines announced recently. The new wardrobe, designed by Mainbocher, will appear as present uniform stocks are exhausted and will have more eye appeal while costing less..

In addition to the dressy new blues for enlisted and officer personnel, Women Marine officers in the grade of major and above who are required to attend state and diplomatic functions will wear a three-piece formal ensemble in dark blue.

All outfits are readily identified as Marine Corps uniforms. Details from early Marine uniforms appear in collar and lapel motifs in all the uniforms. The traditional cuff ornamentation, insignia and buttons have been retained.

For summer wear, Women Marines will have a one-piece dress of green and white striped nylon-Dacrom with a matching long-sleeved jacket to replace the present two-piece seersucker uniform.

Uniforms for Dress

For dress ocassions enlisted personnel will have a two-piece dark blue uniform of 12-ounce serge, with jacket that nips in at the waist and a six-gored skirt. Collar and shoulder detail of the blue jacket is emphasized by scarlet piping. A white blouse of Dacron, polyester fiber, is worn beneath the jacket. The tie is ascot shaped, of dark blue material. The blue cap with scarlet cord is of the same design that has become a distinctive mark of Women Marines.

The forest green jacket and skirt of the winter uniform is cut on the same lines as the blues but has a pale green cotton broadcloth blouse. The tie will be ascot shaped, matching the green serge in color and the green cap will be of present design.

Not changed are the accessories for the Women Marines: hats, handbags, mufflers, shoes and gloves.

Says Conditions Worse

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP) — The International Monetary Fund says world financial conditions have worsened and the main reason is that some nations are trying to live beyond their incomes. The world backslid in the past year toward a tangle of restrictive money and trade controls, the fund said in its report for its fiscal year, which ended April 30.

Condition Is 'Fair'

The condition of John Schoonmaker, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vivian V. Schoonmaker of 35 Liberty street, who was injured Tuesday morning when his bicycle was in collision with a pickup truck at Liberty street and Clinton avenue, was reported to be "fair" today at Benedictine Hospital.

Reports Are Checked

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP)—The navy says it has investigated reports of an unidentified submarine off Alaska but is planning no further action. "There was a reported contact in the Alaska area," a navy spokesman said. "An investigation revealed that no conclusions are practicable. No further action is contemplated."

Sixth Tropical Storm

Manila, Sept. 4 (AP)—The Philippines' sixth tropical storm in a month today hit the sparsely-populated northeastern tip of Luzon Island. The Weather Bureau predicted the storm center, with winds of up to 70 miles an hour, would move northwestward into the South China Sea Friday.

Cleanliness

Approximately 65,000 gallons of liquid soap and more than 1,100,000 bars of coap are used annually by passengers of railroad Pullman cars.

Meeting for Dads of Vets

A meeting of those interested in formation of a post for Dads of Veterans is scheduled Friday at 8 p. m. in the home of Joyce-Schirick Post, VFW, Delaware avenue. Past Commander Raymond Myer, one of the leaders in the movement to have the fathers of veterans organize, urges all backers of the idea to attend tomorrow night's session.

Order Is Upheld

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—The appellate division today unanimously upheld a State Supreme Court order jailing two suspended policemen for refusing to testify about graft paid by bookie Harry Gross. The court ruled that refusal of John F. Sullivan and Charles Goubeaud to testify at the departmental trial of 34 policemen "may be deemed contempt."

nal division at the time.

James A. Mullally, whose resignation came quickly last month after he was suspended from his criminal division post, testified he received $750 from Gordon L. Eakle, a former departmental colleague who quit in 1946 to enter private practice.

It wasn't a fee and it wasn't compensation "because I did nothing to earn it," Mullally told the committee.

Started With Call

He said the whole thing started with a telephone call from John Acker, counsel for Carnation who once had been a government lawyer.

Mullally said Acker asked him about a case the Food and Drug Administration brought against his concern in Buffalo because two shipments of evaporated milk didn't contain as much Vitamin D as their labels claimed.

Mullally said he knew nothing about the case. But he did "mention" to Acker that their old mutual friend, Eakle, was in private practice here and that an associate, Irvin Goldstein, formerly worked in the food and drug section.

Retained Firm

It developed that Carnation retained Eakle's law firm and within a short time the Justice Department signaled the U. S. attorney at Buffalo to drop the criminal prosecution and send the concern a warning letter, instead.

In April, 1947, Eakle collected a $3,000 fee from Carnation. And, as both Mullally and Eakle testified, Mullally received $750, less two or three hundred dollars which represented a debt he owed Eakle.

Eakle told the committee that Mullally "needed the money so I gave it to him."

Mrs. Patterson Dies

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Julis J. Patterson, 75, national president of the Spanish-American War Nurses, died today. A native of Richmond, Ind., Mrs. Patterson served as a nurse in the Spanish-American War and helped pioneer the present Army Nurse Corps. She was the widow of Coast Guard Commander Albert F. Patterson. A daughter, Mrs. Helen Patterson, of New York city, and a son, Capt. Richard O. Patterson, co-captain of the liner America, survive. After services here Sunday, burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery, Fort Myer, Va.

Feels Sorry for Adlai, Will Send Him Shoes

Flint, Mich., Sept. 4 (AP)—Frederick R. Elliott, a Republican and president of Fred Elliott Shoes, Inc., appointed himself as chairman of the "Shoes for Stevenson Committee."

Elliott acted yesterday after seeing an Associated Press wirephoto of the Illinois governor at Flint. It was taken on his Labor Day speaking swing through Michigan and distinctly showed a hole in the sole of Adlai's right shoe.

Elliott, as self-appointed chairman of his committee, wrote Stevenson, asking his shoe size and promising to supply a new pair from one of his stores, but he also wanted to know why the Democratic presidential nominee "couldn't afford a new pair after 20 years of Democratic administration."

Stevenson Would

Keeps Topics Veiled

In the meantime, Stevenson, preparing for the start of a western trip, surrounded with mystery the topics he will discuss on his initial tour appearance at Denver tomorrow. Aides said they could not comment on reports he will answer at that time Republican assertions that it is time for a change in Washington.

Stevenson gave an indirect answer yesterday to charges by Eisenhower in a New York city Labor Day speech that attempts had been made to coerce federal employes into contributing to the Democratic campaign.

In a letter to Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the Democratic Finance Committee, Stevenson said he wants only contributions "that will be without promises and without threat."

Mine Explodes

Honk Kong, Sept. 4 (AP)—Seven Russian mining experts and several other persons died when three Communist Chinese trucks en route to the Tungsten Mines of Kwantung Province struck a land mine rigged by Nationalist guerrillas last week, the independent Wah Kiu Daily News said today.

Eisenhower . . .

sonville, Miami, Tampa, Birmingham and Little Rock—Eisenhower drew close to 300,000 people. They gave him a rousing welcome wherever he went.

The big question was whether Eisenhower could repeat this performance in other parts of the country—and whether this appeal could be translated into votes in November.

Eisenhower moved into the South like a man who believes he can break up the one-party hold there, regardless of what others might think. And it was disclosed that a second southern trip will come up later.

He told a big crowd at Little Rock: "There is a mounting mass of evidence to show that you are in no one's column, that you are not a captive precinct, and you are going to express your judgments and your decisions as you see fit."

He hammered at deficit spending, high taxes, and the need for a program that will lead to world peace. But the main theme of every speech in the South revolved around the phrase "that mess in Washington."

Nixon Says Cause

Refuses To Do Anything

"The administration refused time and time again to do anything about the Communist problem" he added. "They condoned it and covered it up."

Both General Dwight Eisenhower, the Republican presidential candidate, and Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson agree that there is "a mess" Washington, Nixon said. But, he said Stevenson "had to telephone his apologies to Mr. Truman for even daring to speak of messes" and "obviously isn't equal" to the cleanup task.

Of Stevenson, he said:

"You can't create an independent candidate out of a tired relic of a whole series of deals, of dubious State Department training and of leftist leaning."

Nixon explained in a press conference that his reference to "leftist leanings" was Stevenson's selection as advisers of men favoring Truman's "most radical" programs.

Get 65 Cents Now

Taipeh, Formosa, Sept. 4 (AP)—Buck Privates in Nationalist China's army today had their pay doubled—from the equivalent of 32½ cents a month to 65 cents. The cabinet okayed a raise for all enlisted personnel. It hiked the price of government-sold cigarettes and wines to meet the cost of roughly $400,000 a month.

U. S. Troops Hold Berlin Maneuvers

Berlin, Sept. 4 (AP) — Troops with rifles at the ready and in full combat gear returned to the streets of West Berlin today for the first time since the war.

The U. S. Army's Sixth Regiment engaged in mock combat in a three-day exercise on the largest scale ever held here.

The 5,000-man regiment was split up into aggressor and defender forces. Two-man squad employing the familiar infantry "buddy system" lurked on street corners. Riflemen lying flat on the grass trained their weapons on the U. S. High Commission Headquarters, while shoppers at the army sales store stared in wonderment.

Tanks rolled through the adjacent Grunewald forest and command jeeps raced from point to point.

Which way

WHETHER YOU SEE EYE-TO-EYE with Adlai or Ike, one thing is certain:

From now till November 4th, you'll want to know how they look at all the big issues . . .

Europe . . . Korea . . . taxes . . . controls . . . income . . . all the problems that reach into your daily life here in our town.

And to help you weigh each candidate day by day as each issue comes to light—you turn to your newspaper. Just as you've turned to it daily for dozens of other reasons since you first learned to read.

For the latest facts . . . for goings-on in our town, our state, our entire world . . . to see what's for fun and what's for sale. Not only what—but where and when and how much it costs.

And in the newspaper we read all about it . . . or only as much as we want . . . as many times as we want.

We read any time we choose . . . any place we choose.

That's why nearly everybody reads the newspaper nearly every day.

That's why so many people who sell advertised products insist that they be advertised in newspapers.

Because in newspapers an advertising message has a chance to reach all people who can buy. Not just sports fans or quiz fans or music fans or comedy fans . . . but everybody.

That's why all advertisers—both "national" and retail—invest more money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

The newspaper is first with the most news . . . first with the most people . . . first with the most advertisers.

nal division at the time.

James A. Mullally, whose resignation came quickly last month after he was suspended from his criminal division post, testified he received $750 from Gordon L. Eakle, a former departmental colleague who quit in 1946 to enter private practice.

It wasn't a fee and it wasn't compensation "because I did nothing to earn it," Mullally told the committee.

Started With Call

He said the whole thing started with a telephone call from John Acker, counsel for Carnation who once had been a government lawyer.

Mullally said Acker asked him about a case the Food and Drug Administration brought against his concern in Buffalo because two shipments of evaporated milk didn't contain as much Vitamin D as their labels claimed.

Mullally said he knew nothing about the case. But he did "mention" to Acker that their old mutual friend, Eakle, was in private practice here and that an associate, Irvin Goldstein, formerly worked in the food and drug section.

Retained Firm

It developed that Carnation retained Eakle's law firm and within a short time the Justice Department signaled the U. S. attorney at Buffalo to drop the criminal prosecution and send the concern a warning letter, instead.

In April, 1947, Eakle collected a $3,000 fee from Carnation. And, as both Mullally and Eakle testified, Mullally received $750, less two or three hundred dollars which represented a debt he owed Eakle.

Eakle told the committee that Mullally "needed the money so I gave it to him."

Feels Sorry for Adlai, Will Send Him Shoes

Flint, Mich., Sept. 4 (AP)—Frederick R. Elliott, a Republican and president of Fred Elliott Shoes, Inc., appointed himself as chairman of the "Shoes for Stevenson Committee."

Elliott acted yesterday after seeing an Associated Press wirephoto of the Illinois governor at Flint. It was taken on his Labor Day speaking swing through Michigan and distinctly showed a hole in the sole of Adlai's right shoe.

Elliott, as self-appointed chairman of his committee, wrote Stevenson, asking his shoe size and promising to supply a new pair from one of his stores, but he also wanted to know why the Democratic presidential nominee "couldn't afford a new pair after 20 years of Democratic administration."

campaigning he will do before November.

Keeps Topics Veiled

In the meantime, Stevenson, preparing for the start of a western trip, surrounded with mystery the topics he will discuss on his initial tour appearance at Denver tomorrow. Aides said they could not comment on reports he will answer at that time Republican assertions that it is time for a change in Washington.

Stevenson gave an indirect answer yesterday to charges by Eisenhower in a New York city Labor Day speech that attempts had been made to coerce federal employes into contributing to the Democratic campaign.

In a letter to Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the Democratic Finance Committee, Stevenson said he wants only contributions "that will be without promises and without threat."

Mine Explodes

Honk Kong, Sept. 4 (AP)—Seven Russian mining experts and several other persons died when three Communist Chinese trucks en route to the Tungsten Mines of Kwantung Province struck a land mine rigged by Nationalist guerrillas last week, the independent Wah Kiu Daily News said today.

Eisenhower . . .

sonville, Miami, Tampa, Birmingham and Little Rock—Eisenhower drew close to 300,000 people. They gave him a rousing welcome wherever he went.

The big question was whether Eisenhower could repeat this performance in other parts of the country—and whether this appeal could be translated into votes in November.

Eisenhower moved into the South like a man who believes he can break up the one-party hold there, regardless of what others might think. And it was disclosed that a second southern trip will come up later.

He told a big crowd at Little Rock: "There is a mounting mass of evidence to show that you are in no one's column, that you are not a captive precinct, and you are going to express your judgments and your decisions as you see fit."

He hammered at deficit spending, high taxes, and the need for a program that will lead to world peace. But the main theme of every speech in the South revolved around the phrase "that mess in Washington."

Nixon Says Cause

Refuses To Do Anything

"The administration refused time and time again to do anything about the Communist problem" he added. "They condoned it and covered it up."

Both General Dwight Eisenhower, the Republican presidential candidate, and Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson agree that there is "a mess" Washington, Nixon said. But, he said Stevenson "had to telephone his apologies to Mr. Truman for even daring to speak of messes" and "obviously isn't equal" to the cleanup task.

Of Stevenson, he said:

"You can't create an independent candidate out of a tired relic of a whole series of deals, of dubious State Department training and of leftist leaning."

Nixon explained in a press conference that his reference to "leftist leanings" was Stevenson's selection as advisers of men favoring Truman's "most radical" programs.

Get 65 Cents Now

Taipeh, Formosa, Sept. 4 (AP)—Buck Privates in Nationalist China's army today had their pay doubled—from the equivalent of 32½ cents a month to 65 cents. The cabinet okayed a raise for all enlisted personnel. It hiked the price of government-sold cigarettes and wines to meet the cost of roughly $400,000 a month.

U. S. Troops Hold Berlin Maneuvers

Berlin, Sept. 4 (AP) — Troops with rifles at the ready and in full combat gear returned to the streets of West Berlin today for the first time since the war.

The U. S. Army's Sixth Regiment engaged in mock combat in a three-day exercise on the largest scale ever held here.

The 5,000-man regiment was split up into aggressor and defender forces. Two-man squad employing the familiar infantry "buddy system" lurked on street corners. Riflemen lying flat on the grass trained their weapons on the U. S. High Commission Headquarters, while shoppers at the army sales store stared in wonderment.

Tanks rolled through the adjacent Grunewald forest and command jeeps raced from point to point.

Which way

do you look at things?

WHETHER YOU SEE EYE-TO-EYE with Adlai or Ike, one thing is certain:

From now till November 4th, you'll want to know how they look at all the big issues . . .

Europe . . . Korea . . . taxes . . . controls . . . income . . . all the problems that reach into your daily life here in our town.

And to help you weigh each candidate day by day as each issue comes to light—you turn to your newspaper. Just as you've turned to it daily for dozens of other reasons since you first learned to read.

For the latest facts . . . for goings-on in our town, our state, our entire world . . . to see what's for fun and what's for sale. Not only what—but where and when and how much it costs.

And in the newspaper we read all about it . . . or only as much as we want . . . as many times as we want.

We read any time we choose . . . any place we choose.

That's why nearly everybody reads the newspaper nearly every day.

That's why so many people who sell advertised products insist that they be advertised in newspapers.

Because in newspapers an advertising message has a chance to reach all people who can buy. Not just sports fans or quiz fans or music fans or comedy fans . . . but everybody.

That's why all advertisers—both "national" and retail—invest more money in newspapers than in any other form of advertising.

Nippy Jones Blanks Merchants for Dairymen in First Hill Job, 5-0

Infielder Limits Losers to 4 Hits In Vital Victory

Doubleheader Is Slated Sunday in League Play

Nippy Jones, regular infielder of Jones Dairy, pulled a Bucky Walters trick at the Athletic Field Wednesday night and it paid rich dividends for the second place City League club.

The converted third sacker made his first appearance on the mound for the Dairymen last night and turned in a brilliant four-hit shutout as the Dairymen walked off with a 5 to 0 triumph.

As a result of Jones' hill success, his club is still very much in the running for the second half crown. Wiltwyck Motors still leads the pack on percentages with four victories in five starts while the Milkmen have registered five conquests in seven games.

Two Games Sunday

A big double-header is listed for the Smith avenue ball lot Sunday. The first game, starting at 2:05 p. m., will bring together Jones Dairy and Boulevard Gulf. The second half of the twin-bill will feature Wiltwyck Motors and Chez Emile.

The Milkmen gave Jones all the runs he needed in the first inning when they pushed over a pair of markers. They added two more in the bottom half of the third just for insurance which was never needed.

Carlino Whacks Triple

Jack "Daisy" Schatzel greeted Angie Fondino, the starting Merchants' flinger, for a single in the first and galloped to second on Ron Mauro's sacrifice. Tommy Carlino spanked a long triple, scoring Schatzel. Carlino romped in with ease on Tommy Maines' hoist to the outfield.

The third inning uprising included a single by Schatzel, Carlino's double, a triple by Maines and singles by Charlie Neff, Jones and Bob Graves. Graves was caught trying to pilfer third to end the rally which netted three runs.

The Dairymen had another big opportunity to cash in on more runs in the fourth but the threat expired when Maines flied to center with the bases jammed.

Jones Halts Bids

Although coming up with a sparkling shutout in his first mound performance, Jones had to rise to the occasion to keep the Merchants away from home plate. The Colonials stranded three in the sixth on a walk, single and an infielder error but Jones whiffed Andy Juhl to end the inning. Again in the fifth the losers threatened to jar Jones but he got Felipe to hit back to the box with runners on second and third.

Steeger's Notes....Johnny Schatzel and the Dairymen first sacker, was forced to the sidelines when he was struck in the temple by a thrown ball after he had stolen second base. The veteran infielder was rushed to the hospital for X-rays. In a check up this morning, it was learned that "Daisy" had returned to his home apparently feeling improved...Before the mishap, Schatzel had collected a pair of singles to ignite both the Dairymen's rallies...All City League All Star players are requested to meet at the Athletic Field Saturday at 5:45 p. m. to make the trip to Poughkeepsie. The game will start at 8 p. m. In the Bridge City...League President Ed Murphy has announced that any player or fan desiring to donate blood for the mother of Ward Dunham, Colonial Merchants' first sacker, may d so by reporting to the City Laboratory any day between 8 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Houghtaling Hurls No-Hitter as Rotary Wins, 4-2

Elks and Police Will Meet Tonight

Young Jack Houghtaling authored the first no-hitter of the Fraternal Youth League season Wednesday night when he pitched the Rotary club into second place with a 4 to 2 victory over the VFW at Block Park.

Except for a streak of wildness, Houghtaling may have added a shutout to his laurels in addition to his nifty no-hitter performance.

He issued three straight free tickets to Bob Roos, Bob Dawkins and Noel Bonacci to load the sacks. After working the count to 3-2 on Joe Pino, Pino strolled to force in the first run. After Joe Hoffman struck out, Frank Turck hit to second base and Dawkins scored the second run when Pete Blanchan dropped Bill Guldy's throw. Houghtaling bore down hard and fanned Johnny Tomaseski and Jack Stenson to prevent any further damage.

A single by John Culjak, a walk, a hit batsman and a couple of infield outs gave Rotary two runs in the second. In the third, the winners scored two more on a single by Richie Nagele, who stole second; a line-drive double by Jack Houghtaling, a walk and an infield out.

Game Set Tonight

Tonight the Elks and Police battle for fourth place with the losing club dropping to the cellar position and out of the playoffs. Tony Turck and Bruce Bechtold are the scheduled hurlers.

LL Series Opener Is Set for Friday

Newell, Kruger Are Tabbed as Starters

With a forecast for fair and warmer for Friday, the once-postponed Kingston Athletic Association Little League World Series will get underway Friday at 6 p. m. at the 156th FA diamond, Bob Umpleby announced this morning.

The LL World Series was originally scheduled for Labor Day but heavy rains washed out the opener.

The club's two top hurlers—lefthander Glenn Newell of the Dodgers and Don Kruger of the Red Sox, are the probable starting hurlers for tomorrow's big game.

Newell, the meal ticket of the Dodger squad, which won the first half with a record of seven wins and two defeats, is regarded as one of the finest LL twirlers in the area and on his trusty left arm hangs most of the Dodgers' chances in this best two out of three game series.

Don Kruger, a steady performer for the Red Sox, gets the surprise call for his club over young Charlie Boice. Providing Kruger does not get the assignment for the opener Friday night, Boice will pitch the second game of the series next Monday night.

The Red Sox captured the second half of the LL season with an identical record of seven wins and two setbacks.

If a third game is necessary to decide the series, it will be played next Friday night, Sept. 12.

Snead Against Field

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—It was Slammin' Sam Snead against a star-studded field today as 141 golfers teed off in the third annual $15,000 Empire State Open at Normanside Country Club. Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., pro who has won every title except the U. S. Open in his 15-year career, stepped from a taxi-cab late yesterday afternoon and casually fired a three-under-par 67 over the 6,178-yard course, outside Albany. The only one to match this practice score was Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex.

Old Timers' Doubleheader Sunday Stars 2-Inning 'Greybeard' Game

Young "old timers" and baseball greybeards in the 50-and-over age group will collaborate in the annual "Old Timers" doubleheader Sunday, Sept. 7, at Cantine Memorial Field in Saugerties.

Elaborate plans by the Saugerties committee headed by Les Brink include a greybeard contest of two innings at 2 p. m. and a six inning game between oldies of later vintage at 3 p. m.

A village parade is scheduled at 1:30 p. m. featuring the Saugerties Drum Corps. Players of the four teams will be feted at a luncheon after the games.

The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Firemen's Christmas Cheer Fund of Saugerties.

Desmond Heads Squad

Harry Desmond, former baseball star and an umpire during the heydey of the Saugerties Bushwicks and A.C. Club is in charge of the greybeards and several players in the 60-year-old bracket have been lined up for the colorful contest.

All players 50 years or older must compete with the greybeards. The Kingston contingent will offer such worthies as Jimmy Morgan, Bill "Muckie" Schwab, Leo Fitzgerald, Carl "Dutch" Glaser and a host of others.

Desmond has announced a colorful array of old timers headed by Holley Cantine, the old-time catcher and golfer. Surrounding Cantine will be such Saugerties immortals as Glen Robinson, George Broome, John Keeley, Harry Simmons, Bill France, Bill Johnson and George Flicker.

Also listed are the old sidewheeler, Oscar Schlenker, Frank Malone, Martin Freligh, Tony Benoit, Steve Salisbury, Bud Terpening, A. Laurina, Dave Janaczek, William "Lefty" Siebert, Joe Sweeney, Edwin Ellis, Dewey Van Buren, Duke Hunter, Paul Tracey, Eddie Bambeck, Herm Smith and Harry Desmond.

Third Annual Game

The feature contest among the younger group will be the third annual clash between the stars of the 1930s. The series was started three years ago by Les Brink and he has been the motivating factor in keeping it alive.

Mayor George Holmes of Saugerties will toss out the first ball for this game which is expected to start around 3 p. m.

Harry Desmond and Chief of Police Richter will serve as coaches for the Old Timers. "Monk" McCormick, who did not appear in either of the first two games in the series and Gus Coleman, hard clubbing Catskill catcher, who was the Roy Campanella of his day, have agreed to make an appearance this year.

The remainder of the former Saugerties A.C. roster which claimed the county championship in the mid-30s, will be substantially the same as in previous years.

This means that Big Ted Freligh will be on deck to pack batting power and pitch a few innings. The probable starting array will show Hank Baker, Bill Hanna and Ted Freligh in the outfield.

Big Ted Fluhr will be the starting pitcher with Paul Joyce, Lefty Martin and Harold Swart available for relief chores. Gus Coleman, Earl "Gabby" Benjamin and Knauert make up the catching corps, with Lefty Martin, Jack Rivenbergh, Les Brink and Bill Finger in the infield.

Orange May Shake Jinx

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—The Syracuse University football team is counting on shrugging off the jinx that haunted its quarterbacks last season. Three top signal callers showed up well during a long passing drill yesterday. Pat Stark, a hometown candidate, gave the stellar performance, but was hard pressed by Bruce Yancey of Bellerose, L. I., and Avatus Stone of Washington, D. C. Stark and Yancey were sidelined most of last fall by leg fractures.

Knoxville, Tenn. — Gen. Bob Neyland said he planned to stay on as athletic director at Tennessee when his coaching days are over.

Nippy Jones Blanks Merchants for Dairymen in First Hill Job, 5-0

Infielder Limits Losers to 4 Hits In Vital Victory

Doubleheader Is Slated Sunday in League Play

Nippy Jones, regular infielder of Jones Dairy, pulled a Bucky Walters trick at the Athletic Field Wednesday night and it paid rich dividends for the second place City League club.

The converted third sacker made his first appearance on the mound for the Dairymen last night and turned in a brilliant four-hit shutout as the Dairymen walked off with a 5 to 0 triumph.

As a result of Jones' hill success, his club is still very much in the running for the second half crown. Wiltwyck Motors still leads the pack on percentages with four victories in five starts while the Milkmen have registered five conquests in seven games.

Two Games Sunday

A big double-header is listed for the Smith avenue ball lot Sunday. The first game, starting at 2:05 p. m., will bring together Jones Dairy and Boulevard Gulf. The second half of the twin-bill will feature Wiltwyck Motors and Chez Emile.

The Milkmen gave Jones all the runs he needed in the first inning when they pushed over a pair of markers. They added two more in the bottom half of the third just for insurance which was never needed.

Carlino Whacks Triple

Jack "Daisy" Schatzel greeted Angie Fondino, the starting Merchants' flinger, for a single in the first and galloped to second on Ron Mauro's sacrifice. Tommy Carlino spanked a long triple, scoring Schatzel. Carlino romped in with ease on Tommy Maines' hoist to the outfield.

The third inning uprising included a single by Schatzel, Carlino's double, a triple by Maines and singles by Charlie Neff, Jones and Bob Graves. Graves was caught trying to pilfer third to end the rally which netted three runs.

The Dairymen had another big opportunity to cash in on more runs in the fourth but the threat expired when Maines flied to center with the bases jammed.

Jones Halts Bids

Although coming up with a sparkling shutout in his first mound performance, Jones had to rise to the occasion to keep the Merchants away from home plate. The Colonials stranded three in the sixth on a walk, single and an infielder error but Jones whiffed Andy Juhl to end the inning. Again in the fifth the losers threatened to jar Jones but he got Felipe to hit back to the box with runners on second and third.

Steeger's Notes....Johnny Schatzel and the Dairymen first sacker, was forced to the sidelines when he was struck in the temple by a thrown ball after he had stolen second base. The veteran infielder was rushed to the hospital for X-rays. In a check up this morning, it was learned that "Daisy" had returned to his home apparently feeling improved...Before the mishap, Schatzel had collected a pair of singles to ignite both the Dairymen's rallies...All City League All Star players are requested to meet at the Athletic Field Saturday at 5:45 p. m. to make the trip to Poughkeepsie. The game will start at 8 p. m. In the Bridge City...League President Ed Murphy has announced that any player or fan desiring to donate blood for the mother of Ward Dunham, Colonial Merchants' first sacker, may d so by reporting to the City Laboratory any day between 8 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Newell, Kruger Are Tabbed as Starters

With a forecast for fair and warmer for Friday, the once-postponed Kingston Athletic Association Little League World Series will get underway Friday at 6 p. m. at the 156th FA diamond, Bob Umpleby announced this morning.

The LL World Series was originally scheduled for Labor Day but heavy rains washed out the opener.

The club's two top hurlers—lefthander Glenn Newell of the Dodgers and Don Kruger of the Red Sox, are the probable starting hurlers for tomorrow's big game.

Newell, the meal ticket of the Dodger squad, which won the first half with a record of seven wins and two defeats, is regarded as one of the finest LL twirlers in the area and on his trusty left arm hangs most of the Dodgers' chances in this best two out of three game series.

Don Kruger, a steady performer for the Red Sox, gets the surprise call for his club over young Charlie Boice. Providing Kruger does not get the assignment for the opener Friday night, Boice will pitch the second game of the series next Monday night.

The Red Sox captured the second half of the LL season with an identical record of seven wins and two setbacks.

If a third game is necessary to decide the series, it will be played next Friday night, Sept. 12.

Wildness Spoils Shutout; Winners Take 2nd Place

Elks and Police Will Meet Tonight

Young Jack Houghtaling authored the first no-hitter of the Fraternal Youth League season Wednesday night when he pitched the Rotary club into second place with a 4 to 2 victory over the VFW at Block Park.

Except for a streak of wildness, Houghtaling may have added a shutout to his laurels in addition to his nifty no-hitter performance.

Given a 4-0 lead, Houghtaling was clipped for a pair of runs in the bottom half of the third inning when his control left him.

He issued three straight free tickets to Bob Roos, Bob Dawkins and Noel Bonacci to load the sacks. After working the count to 3-2 on Joe Pino, Pino strolled to force in the first run. After Joe Hoffman struck out, Frank Turck hit to second base and Dawkins scored the second run when Pete Blanchan dropped Bill Guldy's throw. Houghtaling bore down hard and fanned Johnny Tomaseski and Jack Stenson to prevent any further damage.

A single by John Culjak, a walk, a hit batsman and a couple of infield outs gave Rotary two runs in the second. In the third, the winners scored two more on a single by Richie Nagele, who stole second; a line-drive double by Jack Houghtaling, a walk and an infield out.

Game Set Tonight

Tonight the Elks and Police battle for fourth place with the losing club dropping to the cellar position and out of the playoffs. Tony Turck and Bruce Bechtold are the scheduled hurlers.

Tigers Again Loom as Stumbling Block to Tribe Pennant Chances

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

There's a growing fear in the hearts of Cleveland's baseball fans today that history is about to repeat.

Last year Cleveland won 17 games and lost only five to Detroit's fifth-place Tigers — but three of those defeats came in late September and knocked the Indians out of pennant contention.

The Tigers are worse off this year. They appear a cinch to finish last for the first time in their American League history. However, when the Indians furnish the opposition the Tigers act ferocious.

Cleveland started off by winning its first four meetings from the Tigers but since then the Indians have managed to take only five out of 11 from Detroit.

The Indians bit the dust again last night, 11-8, blowing a chance to cut the New York Yankees' 3½-game lead. The Yanks were stymied, 3-0, behind the one-hit pitching of Philadelphia's Harry Byrd. In other games, Washington, behind Randy Gumpert's seven-hitter, smeared the reeling Boston Red Sox, 9-2, and Chicago edged St. Louis, 1-0, on Sam Mele's homer—one of two hits the White Sox got off Dick Littlefield.

Brooklyn kept its cozy eight-game National League edge over the New York Giants, nipping Boston, 6-5, while New York nosed out Philadelphia, 4-3, in 10 innings. St. Louis brushed by Chicago, 6-1, and Cincinnati downed Pittsburgh, 1-0, as Ken Raffensberger hung up his sixth shutout—the most in the majors this season.

Kolloway Ruins Tribe

Don Kolloway, 34-year-old utility infielder, ruined the Indians last night. He whacked a pinch-hit, grand-slam home run off Lou Brissie in the sixth inning to wipe an 8-6 Cleveland lead. It was Kolloway's second pinch-hit homer of the season and doubled his 1951 home run output.

The Tigers had rocked Bobby Feller and Mickey Harris for a 6-0 lead in five innings and it appeared that Hal Newhouser would wind up with his 199th major league victory. But Newhouser came to grief in the last of the fifth. The Tribe solved him and Dave Madison for eight runs and the shoe was on the other foot—but not for long.

In the sixth, the Tigers loaded the bases with one out on a single and two walks. Brissie rushed in and Kolloway sent his first pitch out of the playing field to wrap it up.

Noren Spoils No-Hitter

At Philadelphia, Byrd walked two and fanned four in hanging up his 14th victory for the A's. Irv Noren spoiled his no-hit bid with a bloop double in the second inning. The A's scored all of their runs in the sixth against Vic Raschi on four hits, a wild pitch and error.

The Dodgers overcame a 5-0 deficit in beating the Braves for the 14th time without a loss. The Brooks tied the score with five runs in a fourth-inning rally that was climaxed by Gil Hodges' 29th homer and won out in the eighth when Duke Snider squeezed Jackie Robinson home. Joe Black blanked the Braves on three hits over the final six innings to pick up his 12th victory.

Bobby Thomson tripled home pinch-runner Dusty Rhodes from first base in the tenth to beat the Phils. Andy Hansen, a former Giant, was the loser and Bill Connelly, fourth Giant pitcher, the winner.

LIVE MINNOW RIG FOR STILL FISHING

SOME MINNOW SPECIES TRY TO SWIM DOWN INTO WEED BEDS TO HIDE FROM GAME FISH. PREVENT THIS WITH THIS RIG. TIE A DROPPER LOOP ABOVE WEEDS AND USE A CORK TO FLOAT THE MINNOW SO IT CAN BE SEEN TO LURE PROWLING GAME FISH.

GOOD LITTLE MAN—Bobby Shantz dresses for another assignment. The strain of shooting for 30 victories has Shantz' hairline receding. The Philadelphia Athletics' 137-pound left-hander talks things over with teammate Ferris Fain, the first baseman well on his way to repeating as the American League batting champion. Then the little fellow winds up and goes to work. His pitching has made him one of baseball's more magnetic attractions. (NEA)

Lip Signs New Pact With Giants; Won't Concede Flag to Brooklyn

New York, Sept. 4 (AP) — Leo Durocher bravely proclaims that his New York Giants can overhaul the runaway Brooklyn Dodgers.

However, the dapper manager, who yesterday signed to lead the Giants again in 1953, indicates he is looking forward to next year.

"We haven't given up by a long shot," he insists, "not until they can show me in black and white that we're mathematically eliminated. In the meantime, I'm conceding nothing."

Leo, however, must know that only a miracle, even bigger than the one that brought the National League flag to the Giants last year, is needed. His team has been handicapped by injuries to Monte Irvin and Sal Maglie and the loss of Willie Mays to the service.

The Giants are eight games behind the Dodgers. A year ago they were six behind the Brooks but then Durocher's men were redhot while the Dodgers were stumbling.

Sees Farm Help

"Things should be a lot different—and better—next year," Leo says, "first of all, the big guy (Irvin) will be sound again. And there isn't a better clutch hitter in baseball than Monte.

"Also we're bringing up a couple of good-looking youngsters who may help us. They tell me we've got a kid shortstop in Minneapolis who can't miss. All who have seen him tab him as a future great. His name is Daryl Spencer. He is a big boy, 6-2, 180 pounds and a long ball hitter. He's hit 25 home runs, 19 of them after July 4.

Ready for Trades

"Another player our scouts think of highly is Bill Taylor, an outfielder. He is in the army now but is expected to be discharged next Feb. 28. We purchased him from Oakland a couple of years ago and he can really belt that ball. He is only 22."

In answer to a question, Durocher said he is ready to trade any player on the club "if we can make a deal to help us."

PINSPOTTER—Georgette Davis at a Brooklyn bowling alley points to the pin-distributing feature of a new automatic pinspotter. The machine employs electrical, electronic and mechanical principles, performs all pit services automatically. The operation of the contraption, which uses two sets of pins, is started by the impact of ball against pit cushions, in which a switch is installed. (NEA)

Pep Defeats Cuban

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 4 (AP)—Former world featherweight champion Willie Pep put on an exhibition of boxing class to win a 10-round decision over Billy Lima, Havana, Cuba, at Pensacola's Legion Field last night. Pep weighed 127 to the Cuban's 123.

Pitching: Harry Byrd, Athletics—Pitched a 3-0, one-hit victory over New York Yankees for his 14th triumph of the season.

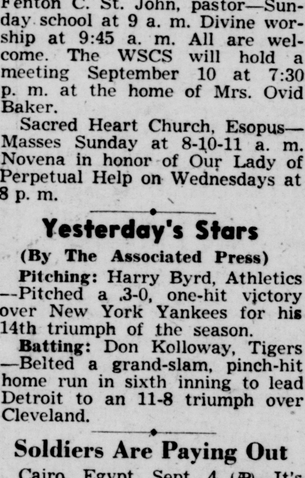
Soldiers Are Paying Out

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 4 (AP)—It's costing soldiers a lot of money to forget that titles have been abolished. Every time a soldier utters the forbidden words bey and pasha it costs him a fine of one piastre (about three cents). Commander in Chief Mohamed Naguib said today: "I intend to go on doing this until the habit of giving titles is lost by everybody."



BEAR-BACK RIDER—Riding this bear piggy-back is fun for nine-year-old Joan Hollidge of London who is not afraid of bruin. The reason: He's just a stuffed bear decorating Alum Bay on the Isle of Wight, England.

SOME MINNOW SPECIES TRY TO SWIM DOWN INTO WEED BEDS TO HIDE FROM GAME FISH. PREVENT THIS WITH THIS RIG. TIE A DROPPER LOOP ABOVE WEEDS AND USE A CORK TO FLOAT THE MINNOW SO IT CAN BE SEEN TO LURE PROWLING GAME FISH.

GOOD LITTLE MAN—Bobby Shantz dresses for another assignment. The strain of shooting for 30 victories has Shantz' hairline receding. The Philadelphia Athletics' 137-pound left-hander talks things over with teammate Ferris Fain, the first baseman well on his way to repeating as the American League batting champion. Then the little fellow winds up and goes to work. His pitching has made him one of baseball's more magnetic attractions. (NEA)

Lip Signs New Pact With Giants; Won't Concede Flag to Brooklyn

New York, Sept. 4 (AP) — Leo Durocher bravely proclaims that his New York Giants can overhaul the runaway Brooklyn Dodgers.

However, the dapper manager, who yesterday signed to lead the Giants again in 1953, indicates he is looking forward to next year.

"We haven't given up by a long shot," he insists, "not until they can show me in black and white that we're mathematically eliminated. In the meantime, I'm conceding nothing."

Leo, however, must know that only a miracle, even bigger than the one that brought the National League flag to the Giants last year, is needed. His team has been handicapped by injuries to Monte Irvin and Sal Maglie and the loss of Willie Mays to the service.

The Giants are eight games behind the Dodgers. A year ago they were six behind the Brooks but then Durocher's men were redhot while the Dodgers were stumbling.

Sees Farm Help

"Things should be a lot different—and better—next year," Leo says, "first of all, the big guy (Irvin) will be sound again. And there isn't a better clutch hitter in baseball than Monte.

"Also we're bringing up a couple of good-looking youngsters who may help us. They tell me we've got a kid shortstop in Minneapolis who can't miss. All who have seen him tab him as a future great. His name is Daryl Spencer. He is a big boy, 6-2, 180 pounds and a long ball hitter. He's hit 25 home runs, 19 of them after July 4.

Ready for Trades

"Another player our scouts think of highly is Bill Taylor, an outfielder. He is in the army now but is expected to be discharged next Feb. 28. We purchased him from Oakland a couple of years ago and he can really belt that ball. He is only 22."

In answer to a question, Durocher said he is ready to trade any player on the club "if we can make a deal to help us."

PINSPOTTER—Georgette Davis at a Brooklyn bowling alley points to the pin-distributing feature of a new automatic pinspotter. The machine employs electrical, electronic and mechanical principles, performs all pit services automatically. The operation of the contraption, which uses two sets of pins, is started by the impact of ball against pit cushions, in which a switch is installed. (NEA)

Pep Defeats Cuban

Rejoins Grid Wildcats

Evanston, Ill., Sept. 4 (AP)—Herb Gresens, a quarterback from Williston Park, N. Y., has rejoined the Northwestern University football squad. Gresens, a junior, won his letter two years ago and then entered military service.

ESOPUS

Esopus, Sept. 4—The first fall meeting of the Mothers Club will be held Wednesday, Sept. 10, at the firehouse at 8 p. m. Louise Archbold from Kingston will be the speaker.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Esopus Fire Department will be held Tuesday, Sept. 9, at 8 p. m. in the firehouse.

Lois George of Poughkeepsie has returned home after spending a week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Scheid.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Fairbrother of Port Ewen were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Coutant recently.

Methodist Church, the Rev. Fenton C. St. John, pastor—Sunday school at 9 a. m. Divine worship at 9:45 a. m. All are welcome. The WSCS will hold a meeting September 10 at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Ovid Baker.

Sacred Heart Church, Esopus—Masses Sunday at 8-10-11 a. m. Novena in honor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help on Wednesdays at 8 p. m.

Yesterday's Stars

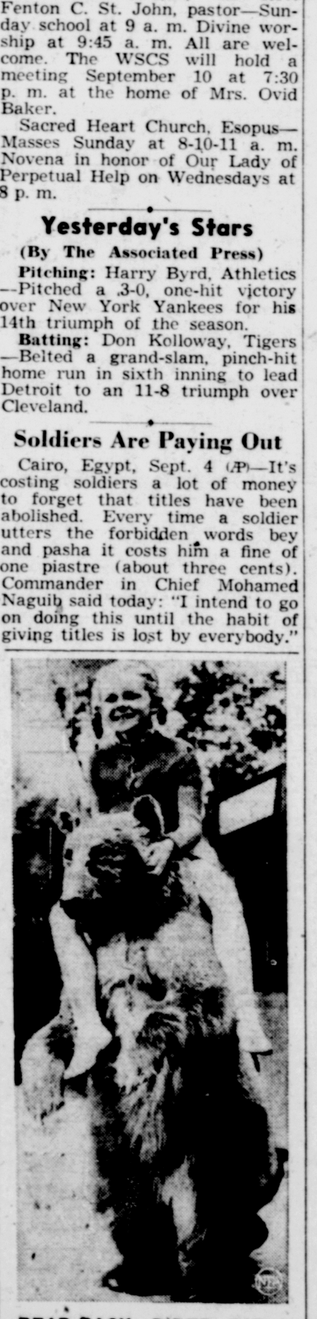
(By The Associated Press)

Pitching: Harry Byrd, Athletics—Pitched a 3-0, one-hit victory over New York Yankees for his 14th triumph of the season.

Batting: Don Kolloway, Tigers—Belted a grand-slam, pinch-hit home run in sixth inning to lead Detroit to an 11-8 triumph over Cleveland.

Soldiers Are Paying Out

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 4 (AP)—It's costing soldiers a lot of money to forget that titles have been abolished. Every time a soldier utters the forbidden words bey and pasha it costs him a fine of one piastre (about three cents). Commander in Chief Mohamed Naguib said today: "I intend to go on doing this until the habit of giving titles is lost by everybody."



BEAR-BACK RIDER—Riding this bear piggy-back is fun for nine-year-old Joan Hollidge of London who is not afraid of bruin. The reason: He's just a stuffed bear decorating Alum Bay on the Isle of Wight, England.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

In the August 1952 "Argosy" there is a complete illustrated article on old engines. The famous No. 999 which visited Kingston is there in full glory of colors. The caption reads, "Hauled Empire State Express on its world-record run of 112.5 mph, between Batavia and Buffalo in 1893 and held speed record for 12 years." The article is written by Henry B. Comstock, who says in part: "This year, more than 2,000 of the smoky, clattering, glamorous steam locomotives are being dragged away to the yards for scrap, making way for the Diesel engines. They were once great monstrous beauties and known for their power, speed and efficiency. They were trail blazers of American expansion. They cut their way across the continent, pushing their own rails ahead on flat-cars, carving an empire as they went."

Kingston played no small part in railroad history for the very first locomotive in America, an enormous monster of British design was shipped into Honesdale from Kingston in August of 1829. For that was both ends of the old D. and H. Canal. It was sent on the deck of a Delaware and Hudson Canal boat. That would make some picture. I bet folks all along the way, up Wilbur and Eddyville, up through Ellenville stood there and wondered what it was all about. But it seems the seven-ton Stourbridge Lion as it was called was too heavy for the iron-topped hemlock path they had thrown across the stream and into the coal-bearing hills beyond. It made one run with Horatio Allen, a brilliant engineer at its helm, and ran smoothly over the short run. Then one more run before it was hauled away to a shed and dismantled for its parts. There is a handsome photo of it in the article with its bright red wheels. The information given under the "Stourbridge Lion" reads "imported by the Delaware and Hudson in 1829, this British-built engine was the first to turn a wheel on a commercial railroad in the United States." The picture is courtesy of Wayne County Historical Society.

The following may interest local watchmakers. The author writes: "The earliest and most famous of our big-engine designers were former watchmakers. The first was Phineas Davis, who in 1831, closed his clock shop in York, Penn., to build a fleet of strange kettles for the Baltimore & Ohio. The eccentric action of their walking beams, and the long connecting rods which reached down to the driving cranks, brought screeches of delight from small children fishing along the banks of Patapsco. 'Grasshoppers!' they shrilled and the name stuck. Davis engines were unbelievably efficient. One of them, the Atlantic, ran for 50 consecutive days, in 1834, without repairs of any sort. It averaged 82 miles a day, hauling trains of 100-tons' gross weight at a cost of 16 cents a mile, including the crew's wages. The Atlantic could run 80 miles on a single ton of coal. Another watchmaker to make history in that line was Matthias Baldwin."

I remember when the West Shore Railroad had $2 round trip excursions on Sundays to New York. To me they were mighty fast, fine and efficient. I like nothing better than a good going train, which stays on a steady track, and one can take a walk down the aisle for exercise now and then.

Tourists See Gold Mine

Cripple Creek, Colo. (AP) — The renowned Molly Kathleen Mine has hit the jackpot in two ways—in high-grade gold ore and in tourist business. Supt. Lee Brown said gold production is steady but doesn't interfere with visits by tourists. Last year 15,500 visited the mine and this year the sightseers are keeping eight guides busy. The visitors are taken 1,000 feet down in a shaft car, then guided about 1,800 feet into the workings.

Quads Attract Attention

Portland, Me. (AP)—What happens to a hospital when quadruplets are born there? Since July 7 when Mrs. Elizabeth Pinkham became the mother of three daughters and one son the hospital has: Received nationwide publicity; had donations to its building fund from as far away as Iowa; its purchasing department has been besieged by salesmen; scores of persons have kept calling to ask if they can see the quads, and the morale of the hospital staff has snapped upward. Not only that but patients are being visited by friends they didn't even know were their friends—all in hopes of catching a glimpse of the famous babies.

Says Adlai Leads Odds

London, Sept. 4 (AP)—One of Britain's leading handbooks made Democrat Adlai Stevenson a 1 to 2 favorite today to win the U. S. presidential race from Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower. The short price on the Illinois governor was quoted by Douglas Stuart, Ltd. "The bettors make the odds, and the bulk of the bets we've taken have been on the Democrat," said Stuart's odds-maker. "Most of the money has come in from Americans residing here, but we also have handled quite a few from British bettors."

Shaver Arrested, Fined $10; Had No Sign on Bus

Donald Edwin Shaver, 22, of Port Ewen, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Identification Officer Earl Conro and Deputy Sheriff James Marino of the Ulster county sheriff's office charged with driving a school bus without showing the proper sign.

Charged with violation of section 15, subdivision B of state law in that he failed to show a sign, "School Bus," Shaver was arraigned before Justice of the Peace F. Palen of the Town of Esopus, pleaded guilty and was fined $10.

Shaver was carrying 11 students to Kingston High School early Wednesday morning when his brakes failed to hold on a down grade on Millbrook road between Port Ewen and Connelly. The bus struck the rear of a truck backing out of a driveway and came to a stop lodged against a light pole, barely escaping what Conro said might have been a very serious accident.

Oldtime Entertainment

Carbondale, Ill. (AP)—A historian has delved into the entertainment in variety houses of the Old West and doesn't blame onlookers for kicking up a ruckus now and then. Dr. Harold E. Briggs of Southern Illinois University searched old books, newspapers and memoirs for details in his study. He reports: "One of the hardest problems of any manager was that of maintaining good order. It was inevitable that the early variety theatres where liquor was served so freely were subject to drunkenness and acts of violence. "In many places the acts presented were no doubt as good as many offered in burlesque or vaudeville. But, in general, these variety theatres were found more worthy of condemnation than of praise."

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

In the August 1952 "Argosy" there is a complete illustrated article on old engines. The famous No. 999 which visited Kingston is there in full glory of colors. The caption reads, "Hauled Empire State Express on its world-record run of 112.5 mph, between Batavia and Buffalo in 1893 and held speed record for 12 years." The article is written by Henry B. Comstock, who says in part: "This year, more than 2,000 of the smoky, clattering, glamorous steam locomotives are being dragged away to the yards for scrap, making way for the Diesel engines. They were once great monstrous beauties and known for their power, speed and efficiency. They were trail blazers of American expansion. They cut their way across the continent, pushing their own rails ahead on flat-cars, carving an empire as they went."

Kingston played no small part in railroad history for the very first locomotive in America, an enormous monster of British design was shipped into Honesdale from Kingston in August of 1829. For that was both ends of the old D. and H. Canal. It was sent on the deck of a Delaware and Hudson Canal boat. That would make some picture. I bet folks all along the way, up Wilbur and Eddyville, up through Ellenville stood there and wondered what it was all about. But it seems the seven-ton Stourbridge Lion as it was called was too heavy for the iron-topped hemlock path they had thrown across the stream and into the coal-bearing hills beyond. It made one run with Horatio Allen, a brilliant engineer at its helm, and ran smoothly over the short run. Then one more run before it was hauled away to a shed and dismantled for its parts. There is a handsome photo of it in the article with its bright red wheels. The information given under the "Stourbridge Lion" reads "imported by the Delaware and Hudson in 1829, this British-built engine was the first to turn a wheel on a commercial railroad in the United States." The picture is courtesy of Wayne County Historical Society.

The following may interest local watchmakers. The author writes: "The earliest and most famous of our big-engine designers were former watchmakers. The first was Phineas Davis, who in 1831, closed his clock shop in York, Penn., to build a fleet of strange kettles for the Baltimore & Ohio. The eccentric action of their walking beams, and the long connecting rods which reached down to the driving cranks, brought screeches of delight from small children fishing along the banks of Patapsco. 'Grasshoppers!' they shrilled and the name stuck. Davis engines were unbelievably efficient. One of them, the Atlantic, ran for 50 consecutive days, in 1834, without repairs of any sort. It averaged 82 miles a day, hauling trains of 100-tons' gross weight at a cost of 16 cents a mile, including the crew's wages. The Atlantic could run 80 miles on a single ton of coal. Another watchmaker to make history in that line was Matthias Baldwin."

I remember when the West Shore Railroad had $2 round trip excursions on Sundays to New York. To me they were mighty fast, fine and efficient. I like nothing better than a good going train, which stays on a steady track, and one can take a walk down the aisle for exercise now and then.

Tourists See Gold Mine

Cripple Creek, Colo. (AP) — The renowned Molly Kathleen Mine has hit the jackpot in two ways—in high-grade gold ore and in tourist business. Supt. Lee Brown said gold production is steady but doesn't interfere with visits by tourists. Last year 15,500 visited the mine and this year the sightseers are keeping eight guides busy. The visitors are taken 1,000 feet down in a shaft car, then guided about 1,800 feet into the workings.

SIGHT-SEEING "A LA CARTE" — Jackie Frost, American tourist, sees ancient Pompeii the easy way. Porters will give you an hour's "personally conducted" tour like this of the famous ruins, destroyed by lava from the volcano Vesuvius in 79 A. D., for 1000 lira—about $1.50.

GAS-RUN RICKSHAW—Coolies will putt-putt along in comfort behind one of these motorized rickshaws soon if the Messerschmidt Co. of Frankfurt, Germany, has its way. The one-time famed aircraft maker hopes to make them popular in America, Africa and Asia. The rickshaws are powered with 6.5 horsepower engines and run 100 kilometers on 2½ liters of gas, with a top speed of 32 miles per hour.

Quads Attract Attention

Portland, Me. (AP)—What happens to a hospital when quadruplets are born there? Since July 7 when Mrs. Elizabeth Pinkham became the mother of three daughters and one son the hospital has: Received nationwide publicity; had donations to its building fund from as far away as Iowa; its purchasing department has been besieged by salesmen; scores of persons have kept calling to ask if they can see the quads, and the morale of the hospital staff has snapped upward. Not only that but patients are being visited by friends they didn't even know were their friends—all in hopes of catching a glimpse of the famous babies.

Says Adlai Leads Odds

London, Sept. 4 (AP)—One of Britain's leading handbooks made Democrat Adlai Stevenson a 1 to 2 favorite today to win the U. S. presidential race from Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower. The short price on the Illinois governor was quoted by Douglas Stuart, Ltd. "The bettors make the odds, and the bulk of the bets we've taken have been on the Democrat," said Stuart's odds-maker. "Most of the money has come in from Americans residing here, but we also have handled quite a few from British bettors."

Reports Traffic Mishap

Adrian Beadle of Boiceville reported to the local police at 8:30 p. m., yesterday that Thomas Buck, 10, of 37 Downs street, rode a bicycle into the back of his car as he turned right from Grand into Prince street. The boy was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment of a contusion of the right knee and X-rays.

Shaver Arrested, Fined $10; Had No Sign on Bus

Donald Edwin Shaver, 22, of Port Ewen, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Identification Officer Earl Conro and Deputy Sheriff James Marino of the Ulster county sheriff's office charged with driving a school bus without showing the proper sign.

Charged with violation of section 15, subdivision B of state law in that he failed to show a sign, "School Bus," Shaver was arraigned before Justice of the Peace F. Palen of the Town of Esopus, pleaded guilty and was fined $10.

Shaver was carrying 11 students to Kingston High School early Wednesday morning when his brakes failed to hold on a down grade on Millbrook road between Port Ewen and Connelly. The bus struck the rear of a truck backing out of a driveway and came to a stop lodged against a light pole, barely escaping what Conro said might have been a very serious accident.

Oldtime Entertainment

Carbondale, Ill. (AP)—A historian has delved into the entertainment in variety houses of the Old West and doesn't blame onlookers for kicking up a ruckus now and then. Dr. Harold E. Briggs of Southern Illinois University searched old books, newspapers and memoirs for details in his study. He reports: "One of the hardest problems of any manager was that of maintaining good order. It was inevitable that the early variety theatres where liquor was served so freely were subject to drunkenness and acts of violence. "In many places the acts presented were no doubt as good as many offered in burlesque or vaudeville. But, in general, these variety theatres were found more worthy of condemnation than of praise."

A Small Handshake for Ike

A young mother brings her young son up to Republican presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower for a handshake as Eisenhower arrives at the International Airport in Tampa, Fla. Ike later spoke to a capacity crowd at the city's Plant Field and contrasted the position of the opposing parties in the November election. "One is saddled with the mess and the other wants to clean it up," he said. (NEA Telephoto).

Bank Records . . .

or so and "quite likely" will discuss cooperation with the New York commission.

Among those reportedly involved in the financial data hunt are:

Frank J. Sampson, former Tammany Hall leader and now patronage dispenser for Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri; Mayor John V. Kenny of Jersey City, N. J.; Joseph P. Ryan, president of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association; Carmine G. De Sapio, current leader of the Tammany Democratic organization; Abner "Longie" Zwillman, alleged New Jersey Prohibition era bootleg baron; former Jersey City Mayors Frank Hague and Frank Hague Eggers, nephew of Hague; and underworld character Joe Adonis, currently serving a New Jersey prison sentence on a gambling conviction.

Also reportedly on the subpoena list is William J. McCormack, head of large New York stevedoring and sand and gravel enterprises.

Sampson, commenting on the mass subpoena report, told newsmen yesterday that he had submitted a financial report to the commission months ago and added:

"Maybe they're checking up on it. * * * They can do whatever they please as far as my bank account is concerned. I have nothing to hide. I will cooperate fully with the crime commission."

Among commission members, the newspaper stories brought the following comments:

Vice Chairman Ignatius M. Wilkinson: "It is the settled policy of the commission not to comment on newspaper stories."

Chairman Joseph M. Proskauer, vacationing at Lake Placid: "I know nothing about it."

Chief Counsel Benjamin Matthews: "No comment."

GOP Chief Asks

not attack Republicans, but now I do not consider Mr. Fish a Republican."

Ives has been described by Fish as a "Truman Republican" who "played the international New Deal game in Washington."

In order to be nominated as a Constitutional party candidate for the Senate, Fish said he would need 12,000 signatures by tomorrow night, including at least 50 from each of New York's 62 counties.

Fish, himself, said he was not sure this could be accomplished in such short time.

And, failing to obtain the necessary signatures, he added, he would remain as a member of the Orange county GOP committee.

The new American party called for by McCormick last month because of what the publisher described as "me-tooism" has taken shape in various states under the name of the Constitutional party.

Dusenberry said Fish knew his Constitutional party candidacy would weaken Dwight D. Eisenhower's chances of carrying the key state of New York and might possibly cause Ives' defeat. Brooklyn Borough President John Cashmore is the Democratic candidate opposing Ives.

Census takers are paid an average of seven cents for each person they interview.

Second Fire in Car Destroys Interior

A second fire within two weeks in the coupe of Casimir Krakowski, of 50 Hanratty street, destroyed the interior of the vehicle early today.

Firemen were called by an alarm from Box 3131, Broadway and Spring streets, at 1:45 a. m., and reported the heat of the blaze took the paint off the outside and melted the glass as it gutted the interior of the car as it was on Broadway near Abeel street.

The other fire in the Krakowski car damaged the cushion and seat. Firemen were called for that one at 4:42 a. m., to Pearl and Wall streets on Aug. 23.

Cordts Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of J. N. Cordts Hose Company No. 8 will be held at the firehouse tonight at 8:30. All members are urged to be present.

Lichens are very widely distributed, being found in most parts of the earth.

British Unionists Win Resolution

Margate, Eng., Sept. 4 (AP)—Britain's giant Trades Union Congress overrode its leaders' go-slow instruction last night and pushed a resolution through its annual meeting demanding further nationalization of British industry.

Delegates of the TUC's eight million members also denounced the plans of Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative Government to return the nationalized steel and trucking industries to private ownership. The TUC—which is the backbone of the Labor party—called for a new laborite regime to renationalize the industries if Churchill goes ahead.

With each of the 900 convention delegates voting on behalf of rank-and-file fellow members, the vote for more nationalization was 4,542,000 to 3,210,000. It came after the TUC's General Council, an executive body of union leaders, had urged more time to study the proposal. The general council said, however, that it favored the principle of more nationalization.

The resolution instructed the council to draft plans for extending social ownership to other services and industries. The plans will be presented to the convention next year for approval and submission to the Labor party for its campaign platform.

25th Polio Case

Ulster county's 25th polio case for the current year was reported this morning by the Ulster County Health Department. He was said to be a seven-year-old boy a resident of the county. This brings the total for the year to 23 resident cases and two non-resident, compared with 13 for the entire year of 1951.
